Woman's Sense of Humor. The Red Sea. 3,000 Years Ago. Kindly Old Man. Struggling Elephant.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1928.)

INGENIOUS ladies, controlling the D. A. R., blacklist some members, not allowing them to address D. A. R. meetings, because the blacklisted are "too radical."

Don't those ladies know what the letters D. A. R. stand for? They mean "Daughters of the American Revolution."

IT was a real revolution, A REBELLION AGAINST ESTABLISHED GOVERNMENT, as it then existed.

Women are alleged to lack a sense of humor. That isn't true, generally speaking, but it must be true of those blacklisting D. A. R. ladies.

THIS is "Matzoth Day," Jewish holiday of the Passover. The Jews hastily departed from their bondage in Egypt, eating unleavened bread, according to Jehovah's orders, 3,000 years ago. As Moses approached with his followers, the Red Sea opened, spread its waters apart, making a lane through which the Jews passed dry-shod, then swallowed up the pursuing hosts of the Egyptian Pharaoh. The Egyptians do NOT celebrate this day.

By the way, the trip on which Moses spent 40 wandering years is made by airplane now in three hours. That really would surprise old Pharaoh.

MANY friends will hear with regret of Chauncey Depew's serious illness in his ninety-fourth year.

The aged railroad man, Senator, and Speaker, has given pleasure to many, and never willingly offended any one.

His advice to this writer many years ago was: "never depend on any rich man. If you are not useful he will drop you. If you are useful he will see to it that you never get rich, that he may hand you on to work for his son."

Depew knew what he was talking about.

CHARGES by former Secretary Fall against Senators Smoot and Lenroot have little importance because of their source.

But the poor old Republican elephant is struggling through heavy mud.

The big crowd to whom the oil scandal is "just part of the news" little realizes how Republican leaders are worrying and Democratic leaders rejoicing.

THE situation may force President Coolidge, in spite of himself, to change his "I do not choose" to "I guess I'll hafta."

NEWSPAPERS discover "some talk for Dawes for President." It isn't much of a discovery. Many of the most influential men have been for Gen. Dawes from the start. He is pledged to Gov. Lowden at present. But some wise politicians believe that in the end Dawes will be nominated, with Gov. Lowden's votes included in his majority.

GEN. DAWES possesses energy and action. If elected he would clean up rapidly anything that might be left of the oil scandal.

Situations change as rapidly as pictures in a kaleidoscope. Nobody knows now who will run or not run; not even President Coolidge himself knows.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, 80 years old, started north from Florida yesterday. His drive has been lengthened to 150 yards by a new style of addressing the ball. His health is good, and with his son, John D., Jr., carrying the load, he is cheerful.

MR. ROCKEFELLER breaks his northward trip at Lakewood, N. J., in the pine woods, before going all the way "north" to Pocantico Hills. A few wise men do today, in their old age, what the birds have done for a thousand centuries—following the sun and selecting their climate. Flying machines, going as fast as the sun seems to go, will make that very easy some day.

RAILROAD stocks were going up yesterday. Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, well managed road, showed gains. Also New York Central and others. Atchison went on a permanent $10 dividend basis.

The railroad workers, trained men, conductors, engineers, firemen, track walkers, and the rest, ought to get a little more of that prosperity. The public would willingly pay the bill.

Twenty-eight owners own 58 per cent of Erie Railroad common stock. The whole 28 could help the workers to their own advantage.

MERCURY HITS 76 MARK

Heat records for the year were shattered today when the mercury bounced to 76 at 2 o'clock. Seventy-five degrees on March 13 was the previous high point of the year.

The record of 46 years' standing, 83, on April 4, 1882, is not in danger, Forecaster W. S. Brotzman announced.

CALLED ONE OF COUNTY'S BEST

One of the best juries ever empaneled in Allegheny county is that before Mrs. Angeline Bove, 21-year-old on trial in the death of her husband, court circles say. The jury is shown above, guarded by a court tipstaff, walking back to the courthouse at noon after its short recess for luncheon.

See Fess Choice Aid To Mellon

Selection of Senator Simeon D. Fess as temporary chairman and keynoter of the coming Republican convention in Kansas City pleased organization leaders here, especially those who refuse to abandon hope of drafting President Coolidge for another term.

His selection also pleased the large group of organization men and women here, who have hopes of the convention developing a situation in which it will be possible to use Pennsylvania's 76 votes as the start of a movement that will nominate Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon for President. In deeds and words Senator Fess has supported the Secretary, and the feeling here is that, while his first choice is Coolidge, he would view with friendly eyes any serious movement to nominate Mellon.

The selection of Fess, it is believed here, practically insures that somewhere in the keynote speech will be glowing praise for Secretary Mellon, similar to the words of Theodore E. Burton, keynoter four years ago, which caused the greatest ovation of that convention.

Republican State Chairman W. L. Mellon declined to discuss the selection of Fess as keynoter and practically all of the other organization leaders followed his lead, stating that the matter was national rather than state or local.

DEPORT STRIKE ANGEL

HYDE PARK, Pa., April 4.—Kiski valley's heroine of two years ago, Mrs. John Harrison, 34, today faces deportation, because, she says, she led a movement to feed starving mine strikers.

In January the Harrisons, attracted by the plight of the miners, inaugurated a relief movement in the valley. They pushed it through and then, Mrs. Harrison says, their troubles began. A wagging tongue notified immigration authorities that Harrison had come into this country without proper papers. Investigation followed and it was decreed they would have to return to their native land.

With her husband, John, a machinist, their two children, Vera, 13, and Kenneth, 5, and her grandmother, Mrs. Martha Jackson, she

TROTZKY SHOT DOWN, REPORT

Assassin's Shot Hurts Exiled Founder of Soviet in Russian-Turkestan, Mystery Rumor Says.

International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 4.—An unconfirmed report of mysterious origin that Leon Trotzky, one of the founders of the Soviet government and former commissar for war and marine at Moscow, had been shot and critically wounded by a young assassin in his place of exile—Vierny (Alma Alta), in Russian Turkestan—was circulated throughout Europe and America today.

This report, which was first published by the Paris newspaper Excelsior, seems to have originated in Berlin, as the Paristan paper printed it under a Berlin date line.

A radiogram to International News Service from Berlin quoted officials of the Russian embassy in that city as saying they believed the report was false. It was significant that, while the report printed in Paris was said to have come from Berlin, the report printed in Berlin bore a Paris date line.

A Moscow dispatch received at Riga said that the report was known

Worked Here in Several Book Binderies 15 Years Ago. Pittsburgher Tells of Meeting.

Leon Trotzky, reported wounded by an assassin in Vierny, Russian Turkestan, lived in Pittsburgh 15 years ago. Employed as a journeyman bookbinder, he worked here in several shops and under the name of Leber Bronstein struggled to earn a meager living while working on intermittent jobs at his trade. Much of his time was spent in study and in writing for radical publications, and he had few social contacts and no intimates.

Philip Sufrin, proprietor of a bookbindery at 79 Chatham street, is one of the few who became acquainted with the Bolshevist leader. Today he recalled his first meeting with the immigrant bookbinder in a card sample shop in New York.

"Trotzky was a man of mental strength far above that of the ordinary workmen beside him," said Sufrin. "He seldom talked to anyone and his mind was on things outside his work. At lunch time and between jobs he was al-

DEATH FIGHT TOLD

Angeline Bove hid her tears and masked her emotions as she sat in an uninviting wooden chair today and told the world and a crowded courtroom how and why Alfonso Bove, Jr., was slain.

Of that fateful evening of September 29 in their home at 7014 Agnew street, Angeline recited in a calm, unmoved voice:

"He knocked me down. I reached into the bottom drawer of the vanity and got the gun. I tried to get to my feet. We struggled. The gun went off. I don't know whether I pressed the trigger or whether he pressed it."

"He beat me," testified Angeline, 21-year-old mother of two children. "He drank. He ran around with other women. Once he told me, 'Take your brats home to your mother.'"

BERLIN'S WIFE GETS HEALTH BACK, BUT NOT FORGIVENESS

ELLIN

IRVING

NEW YORK, April 4.

CALIFORNIA sunshine has restored health to Ellin Mackay Berlin, wife of Irving Berlin. Home for a brief business trip, the noted song writer said:

"Ellin never loked better in her life. The climate certainly seems to agree with her."

Berlin's statement was in contrast to denials made a few months ago that his wife was in poor health.

TODAY Berlin was all smiles. "You ought to see the baby," he declared. "It's getting prettier every day. We're perfectly happy, supremely happy."

There's just one cloud hanging over the Berlins' marital bliss. Ellin's papa, the aristocratic Clarence W. Mackay, Postal Telegraph owner, still refuses a reconciliation with his daughter, whose marriage to Berlin he opposed.

Soho Welfare House Closes

Fear of Pal Made Him Aid in Killing, Boy Says

READING ROOM MUST GO

This hospitable fireplace and all the children's books from Carnegie Library no longer will be available for little folks of the Soho district, since it has been ordered by the directors of Soho Community House to close May 1 on account of lack of funds.

NO MORE BEAR STORIES

The building that for 21 years has housed this community settlement has been condemned. With no funds to pay rental on another building, directors decided to abandon this important social service work. People of all classes in Soho looked there for joy and recreation.

DOLLIES WILL BE LONESOME

THIS OR STREET CORNERS?

The closing of Soho Community House will leave the boys of the district no playground except the traffic-jammed streets and the sheer hillsides, and no place for indoor amusement. Helpless childhood suffers in the closing.

FREE BOOKS

At the Soho Community branch of the Carnegie Library last year the attendance was 60,372. Medals are given to children who keep their books clean and the large number of medal winners indicated the interest the little readers showed toward the privilege of free books.

POLICEMAN FIRED AS LOOTER

Charged with looting the old Henry W. Oliver mansion, 845 Ridge avenue, which he had been detailed to guard, Subpatrolman Joseph Hemphill, attached to Allegheny Police Station, was dismissed by the Police Trial Board today. Hemphill failed to appear.

According to police charges, Patrolman Hemphill during April 29 to June 28, last year, stole furniture and chinaware from the house valued at $627.35. The house at the time of the thefts was unoccupied.

The patrolman took the stolen articles home and informed his wife he had stolen them. As the result of her husband's actions she suffered a breakdown, informed her husband's superiors and his arrest and suspension followed. Hemphill also was held for court charged with larceny.

COAL DEMAND SHOWS SLUMP

A condition bordering on depression exists in the Pittsburgh district coal mines operated with nonunion labor, it was learned today. Coal consumers who heretofore have entered into contracts at this season for their yearly requirements are delaying placing orders.

B. H. Canon, secretary and treasurer of the Fort Pitt Coal and Coke Company, said some concerns were drawing on coal that they stored more than a year ago in anticipation of the strike. Coal customers in the Northwest are awaiting the outcome of the lake cargo rate litigation before placing their orders. The slack demand is due also, Mr. Canon stated, to the fact that the manufacturing industries in the Pittsburgh district are operating at from 20 to 25 per cent below normal.

"SUBJECT TO CHANGE"

Because the operators, before going on an open-shop basis, made wage contracts with the United Mine Workers, which went into effect April 1, that has been the date on which the contracts between the operators and their customers usually became effective. But the old usage is being abandoned, Mr. Canon said. Some contracts were made in January. A few have been drawn that are to run 18 months. Nearly all provide that the price shall be subject to change, if wages change; for the operators are taking into consideration the possibility that legislation affecting wages will result from the Senate investigation of the coal industry.

Mr. Canon said the price of coal was about 15 cents a ton lower than at this time last year.

"The labor supply," he declared, "is the least of our troubles."

The McClane Mining Company, for which the Fort Pitt Coal and Coke Company is the selling agency, is running three of its mines every day, but a number of the other companies in this district are operating irregularly.

PGH. COAL SHOWING

J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, admitted in a letter to the employes that the company's running time the last two weeks had not been as good as it would like to have it. He attributed the depression to the coming of warm weather, with slackening demand for domestic fuel, and also to the use of stored coal by some of the company's customers. A dispatch from Charleroi states that the company's mines at Pricedale, Arnold City and Banning are producing coal every day, but that night turn at Banning No. 1 and No. 2 mines has been suspended, and daylight crews are working only three or four days a week.

The Vesta Coal Company, subsidiary of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, is operating at 60 per cent of capacity.

The Bethlehem Mines Corporation, subsidiary of Bethlehem Steel, is running its mines at Bentleyville, Cokeburg, Ellsworth and Marianna on a three-day schedule.

FEAR GIVEN AS BOY'S DEFENSE

Taking the witness stand in his own defense this afternoon, Robert Stevens, 15, on trial for the murder of an unidentified man near Browns Bridge last September, said he was ruled by Alvin Hess, convicted of first-degree murder.

En route to a swimming hole, the two boys were amusing themselves throwing stones at bottles when the stranger staggered up to them, and asked the way to Pittsburgh.

"Let's knock him off," Hess suggested, according to the witness, and picked up a stone. On Stevens' plea the man was temporarily spared, but when Hess ordered him to get a club, Stevens complied, through fear, he testified.

Then he walked up the hill and didn't see the attack. Later Hess showed $3 and forced Stevens to go back to the body and take 75 cents, so, Stevens testified, he would not tell of the crime. He was afraid of Hess. Once Hess beat Stevens' younger brother and another time when they picked elderberries, Stevens had to be content with two quarts, out of a bushel, as his share.

old husband, she said, changed his mind and refused to take her to the movies.

"I started crying. I said, 'Are you going to take somebody else?' and he said, 'Sure.' I coaxed him not to drink any more and he knocked me down."

Attorney Charles B. Prichard, her counsel, brought out that she had borrowed the revolver from a neighbor for protection on a visit to her husband's summer home near Youngstown, O.

"I borrowed it," Angeline told, "and didn't return it."

As the defense opened, Attorney Prichard in his outline set forth that there was actually a doubt that Mrs. Bove had fired the shot that ended an unhappy union of six years. He emphasized that there had been a struggle over the revolver between man and wife.

During the afternoon Mrs. Bove was subjected to a rigid cross-examination by Assistant District Attorney John F. Haggerty. Throughout it, she clung close to her story, flaring at times into anger at the driving questions fired at her.

Before the state had rested its case, Prosecuting Attorney John Haggerty introduced a deathbed statement of Bove—that, mortally wounded, he had asked Angeline repeatedly, "Why did you do it?"

ways thinking and writing. He was known as a pronounced radical and was forbidden by the foreman from discussing social subjects with the other workmen. To us he declared that he was dedicating his life for the good of the wage-earners, and his writings, he said, were in behalf of liberating the working classes.

"The other workmen stood in awe of Trotzky. When I knew him in New York he was known by his present name. He received $12 a week, that being the pay of a journeyman binder. He may have made additional money from his writings, but I doubt this. His clothes were not good and he seemed to have a struggle for his existence which made him all the more earnest in his Communist ideas. I went to St. Louis in 1901 and did not see Trotzky again. I have been told that he came to Pittsburgh and carried on his same style of life while working at various jobs in bookbinderies here. He never remained long in one place and I am not surprised that little is known of his life in Pittsburgh."

Employes in shops here today had hazy recollections of Bronstein. He was often employed as an extra man when large orders were received for catalogues or white paper legal books and in this way his name was not placed on permanent payrolls. He never took a conspicuous part in radical movements here, his activities being centered in writing for international socialist publications.

there, but that it lacked confirmation and was believed to be untrue.

The Paris Herald printed a report similar to that of Excelsior, but failed to give its source. This same report was telegraphed to London and was printed there today by the Morning Post.

The vagueness of the report, coupled with the fact that Trotzky had been reported "assassinated" previously in his spectacular career, gave rise to considerable skepticism.

Trotzky was exiled to Turkestan on January 16 last because of his opposition activities against the men in power at present in the Soviet government and the Communist party. Many others were banished from Moscow and other Russian cities at the same time.

ZERO HOUR FOR HOP OVER POLE

International News Service

SEWARD, Alaska, April 4.—Capt. George H. Wilkins, noted explorer, plans to launch his flight over the North Pole tomorrow morning at 6 o'clock, according to a wireless message received here today from Point Barrow, where Capt. Wilkins and his pilot, Carl Eilson, are preparing to take off.

The objective of the polar flight is Spitzbergen on the other side of the Arctic circle.

A moderation of the Arctic storms which have caused delay in the take-off, is reported by Capt. Wilkins. Although the climate is growing favorable, the barometer at Point Barrow continues to fall, the message states. This may necessitate another postponement.

The government wireless station here has been instructed to listen for Capt. Wilkins' radio signals tomorrow morning. The explorer's plane is equipped with a complete radio set and he intends to keep in constant touch with the world during his hazardous flight over the vast wastes on top of the world.

It is believed that Capt. Wilkins intends to fly to London in successive hops, if he reaches Spitzbergen. His flight will take him over barren stretches of frozen land, never before seen by human eyes.

PROFESSORS TRY TO PLACE -:- LINDBERGH IN HISTORY -:- BUT ONLY TIME CAN TELL

FEAT COMPARED WITH COLUMBUS' VOYAGE

With Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's statement that he will retire from the public eye, five Chicago professors are concerning themselves with the place he will occupy in history. Lindbergh's flight to France will rank in history with Columbus' voyage to America, says Professor Isaac Cox, Northwestern University (top inset at left). The "Lone Eagle," with his work in the interest of peace and good will, will also be remembered as a great "unofficial" diplomat, says Professor Cox. Lindy will be recorded as a pioneer in a new era of flying, believes Professor M. W. Jernegan, University of Chicago (inset at bottom). History will stress Lindy's feats for aiding Europe and America to a better understanding, says Professor Earl Huth, University of Chicago, (top inset at right).

"GOOD-WILL"

Professor Grose (directly above), Northwestern University says Lindbergh's greatest work was his good-will tour in Latin America. Dr. H. G. Dildine, Northwestern University, (above at right), believes Lindy's feats all the more remarkable in that they occurred in peace times, not under stress of war. A large part of aviation progress was made in the reckless days of battle flying.

TIME TO TELL

Only Father Time will tell where Col. Lindbergh will take his place in the procession of men and women famous in history, the educators agree.

BOVE JURY STYLED COUNTY'S BEST

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY.

Just suppose.

If you were a tiny pathetic looking little mother—being tried for murder—and could select your own jury, what sort of folks would the "twelve good men and women true" be?

"They say" that Angeline Bove, 21-year-old mother of two babes, being tried for the murder of her husband, Alfonso, has one of the best juries ever selected in this county.

And surely a more intelligent, fair-looking jury never filed into a jury box. Four of them are women—three mothers. Of the eight men only one is single. Three are listed as fathers, while of the other three there is nothing said about their families, although they may be family men. There are at least 20 children in the jury family collection. It is a middle-aged American jury.

Mrs. Martha E. Ross, the forewoman, is a widow with two girls and three boys, waiting for her in Finley township. She is middle-aged, but black-haired and has the sort of face that would make you want to take your burdens to her. And the sweetest smile.

Mrs. Catherine O'Hanlon of 601 Lang avenue has seven—four boys and three girls. She is an aristocratic looking snow-haired mother, given to wearing lavendar and violet, which is very becoming and effective.

Mrs. Elizabeth Harrower, North Fayette township, has two girls—one married and one a teacher. Her hair is white too, and there is a blue velvet hat blending with the blue of her eyes. Pretty and young-faced and full of fun.

If Mrs. J. W. Bushman has no children—there are none listed—it really is too bad. For she is gray-haired, smartly dressed and looks as though she could understand almost anything a young person might do. Mrs. Bushman wears a flowered dress becomingly gay and suiting her to a "T." She lives in Coraopolis.

PRETTIEST LEGS RIGHT HERE!

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY.

"Legs is legs."

And we all have a couple—if we're lucky. But, oh, what a difference just a few curves make!

A beauty expert out in Chicago has said that 23 out of 25 girls have legs that justify one hasty look and no more. But that is Chicago, where the two-gun boys are too busy to take more than one look anyway.

Pittsburgh girls, say the experts, are at the top of the list. Traveling men, show folks, etc., often are heard to comment that our girls are favored by the gods when it comes to handing out pretty limbs.

This is because of the hills—some say. But the athletic experts would have us believe that Father Pitt's young ladies are keenly interested in athletics. For instance, Miss Blanche C. Parker, head of physical direction at the Central Y. W. C. A., assures:

"There is a keener interest in athletics here than in any community I have ever been in. And no one will deny that exercise, under the proper supervision, of course, is a beautifier. It develops the lines of the body, softens them and brings health. And health brings beauty."

Miss Margaret McClanahan, professor of physical education at Pitt, believes the hills which the university students have to climb here may have a great deal to do with the fact that Pittsburgh co-eds are so attractive and nicely developed. Few spindly shanks there.

A prominent dancing teacher says: "Dance, dance, dance, for beautiful legs." Another one says: "Don't dance too much. It will make knotty muscular legs—and they're ugly."

So, what can a poor girl do? Don't worry and grow thin. For legs are useful as well as ornamental. That is some consolation.

MONEY BAG STOLEN IN WARD HOLDUP FOUND

Two Duquesne millworkers late yesterday found a black... coin bag stolen by bandits in the Ward Baking Company hold-up in Thirty-first street Monday.

Harry Wermlinger and Wilbert Schlock found the bag in an abandoned coal pit near Kennywood Park and turned it over to County Detective Patrick Traynor. The bag was empty.

Officials of the Franklin Savings and Trust Company, whose messenger and a companion were held up by three armed robbers and relieved of $5,500 cash and $11,000 of the baking company's checks, sent a representative to county detective headquarters, who identified the satchel.

BEAUTY SPECIALIST COMMENTS

Chicago is gasping. A fashion expert and beauty specialist—[illegible] a woman!—has arrived with the announcement that only two of 25, four of 50, or eight of 100 have "pretty legs." Further, she points out young Miss America's faults, which the cameraman has been to considerable pains above to express visually. "If woman could see herself—her legs—as others see them, there'd be a downward trend of the hemline," she opines. Think about this: 18% of America's women have knock knees, 20% sack legs, 9% bow legs, 14% grand piano legs, 29% spike legs, and 8% good looking legs. She who so aptly illustrates the charming 8% above is none other than Mlle. Mistinguette, French actress, whom Paris has claimed more than once has the world's perfect legs. But those legs are insure[illegible]

POSTPONEMENT ASKED TO SCAN FALL STORY

By GEORGE E. DURNO,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Justice Jenning Bailey this morning granted a continuance until Monday, April 9, for the opening of the criminal conspiracy trial of Harry F. Sinclair, the millionaire oil man.

Fall, who is a co-defendant with Sinclair in the Teapot Dome oil conspiracy, is too ill to appear and Sinclair is to be tried alone.

Starting on the third floor of one building, the flames quickly spread to the second building and for a time it was feared that the entire business section of the town would be drawn into the conflagration.

Firemen called from Ridgway found the blaze had gained headway and was spreading rapidly. Two hours were required to bring it under control.

Advertise Your Wants in the Sun-Telegraph

What's All the Shooting for?

A "Retreating Army" always employs a rear guard to make as much noise as possible to cover up the retirement of the main body of the army. Most modern business men know that this plan in business is a boomerang.

Muddying the waters—shouting "wolf" when there is no wolf and indulging in mud-throwing is an "art" this newspaper refuses to indulge in. It does not believe such methods are necessary or that the advertiser is interested.

It does believe the advertisers of the community are entitled to know the "FACTS" about Pittsburgh newspapers. That is why The Sun-Telegraph issues a monthly circulation statement—to give the facts of its circulation to advertisers while such figures are recent and not six months old. (Incidentally we have no competition in rendering this service from other newspapers.)

Uncle Sam requires all newspapers using the U. S. Mails to publish a sworn statement of ownership and circulation. Both Pittsburgh evening newspapers published their respective statements Tuesday, April 3. The Sun-Telegraph's was published on Page 2 in a conspicuous 2 full column space. We are proud of our circulation gains and did not choose to "bury" them.

We presume that others must have known our government statement would look mighty good—in fact we must be good to cause the cry of "Wolf" so loud and so soon because we are less than a year old. "Coming Events Cast Their Shadow Before" so remember the rear guard when you hear all the noise.

"Mere Figures" Backed Up by the Audit Bureau of Circulation is the Only Yardstick by Which Mr. Advertiser Can Measure His Advertising, Because—

"Nothing Succeeds Like Circulation"

The Miracle of the Resurrection

REV. J. C. BROOMFIELD, D.D.,
President of the Pittsburgh Conference, Methodist Protestant Church.

The essential miracles in the life of Christ are His birth and resurrection—but the greatest of these is the resurrection. The emptiness of His grave is the cause of the fullness of spiritual joy found in the world today.

At this season of the year it is well for us to recall the evidences that buttress our faith in the Resurrection.

In the first place His Crucifixion was real. All parties concerned believed in His Death. No trace of doubt is found in the record.

Again, His grave was found empty, and on the day He arose He was seen on five different occasions. In addition, before any of the four gospels were written, Paul claimed in his Corinthian epistle that there were at least 250 persons still living who had seen Christ after His resurrection. No fact in history is better substantiated than is the Resurrection. It is the rock under our feet; it is the explanation of the establishment, development and outreach of the Church.

The modern emphasis of much preaching is on a social gospel for the life that now is, whereas the emphasis of the Resurrection is that the present life gets its meaning from the life that is to come; and that it can only come into beauty and dignity and power as it is lived in the atmosphere and fellowship of the eternal.

Is the Church in danger of losing the Easter emphasis on the future life?

Indoor job no handicap; anyone can keep fit

Ambitious clerk finds way to beat the game

"EASY", HE SAYS

"I WORK in an office. That means that I've got a raft of details on my mind. And I've got to be right up to scratch every moment. You know how hard-boiled the chief can be if I can't dig up the right data at just the right moment. Hard work—long hours—a good deal on my feet.

"And yet I manage to be full of pep. What's more, I've got a real interest in my job—looking ahead, you know, to a little niche at the top for yours truly. I've just got to keep fit.

"How do I do it? I can't take time for golf. But I do take Nujol. And Nujol takes care of me."

Nujol is just a natural substance containing no drugs or medicine. Nujol was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey). It keeps the body functioning as nature meant it to, even under abnormal sedentary conditions. It not only prevents the excess of body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but aids in their removal.

Follow this advice and take Nujol regularly. You'll be amazed to find how much more energetic and efficient you will feel—and be. Take it steadily for three months and watch your improvement. It can't do you any harm, certainly, and might do you a lot of good.

Be sure you get the genuine.

ROUSEVILLE OIL FIRE CAUSES $30,000 LOSS

OIL CITY, Pa., April 4—(AP.)—The wax house of the Crystal Refining Company at Rouseville, near here, was destroyed by fire last night with a loss placed at between $25,000 and $30,000. The origin of the flames was undetermined and company representatives said the loss was covered by insurance. The fire consumed a 100-barrel tank containing petroleum in the process of paraffin manufacture.

HALT CALLERS AS FLIER RESTS

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., April 4—(AP.)—Guards and sawed-off shotguns were brought into use here today to guard Col. Charles A. Lindbergh against intrusion and insure him a complete rest.

The armed guards were thrown about the home of Mrs. Harry F. Knight, where Lindbergh is resting, last night. Stationed two at each gate of her home, they stopped all callers, even Harry Guggenheim, of the Guggenheim Foundation for the advancement of aviation, which employed the famous flying colonel to make his nationwide air tour last year.

Guggenheim's automobile rolled up to one of the gates and was turned back. The wealthy aviation enthusiast was compelled to return to his hotel and arrange for an interview with Lindbergh by telephone.

Col. Lindbergh, represented as becoming more and more annoyed by interviewers and photographers, made a mysterious flight here yesterday, hopping off shortly before noon. No destination was announced. He headed for a cloud bank and disappeared. About an hour later he landed in a small clearing near Mrs. Knight's home and scurried into the house of his hostess without encountering any interference.

BOY PEACEMAKER IS BITTEN BY DOG

DOVER, O., April 4—A stray dog, given shelter by the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith, turned on the boy and bit him eight times on the face and hands when he tried to stop a fight between the dog and a cat. None of the hurts is believed serious.

DAILY MEETING CAMPAIGN PUSHED

Strong sentiment in favor of the metropolitan district plan has developed in the townships it was learned today. Edwin E. Klein, executive secretary of the County Association of First Class Townships, announced that at a meeting attended by qualified voters of 16 townships the project had been indorsed unanimously. It was also indorsed at the state convention of first-class townships.

Meetings are being held nightly in furtherance of the plan. One was held last night at Legion Hall, Perrysville. The speakers were Joseph E. Miller and Dr. Thomas H. Reed, University of Michigan expert on municipal and governmental affairs.

It was an argument by Dr. Reed that won the indorsement of the association of townships. He pointed out that under the plan one part of a township could not secede and join the city without the consent of the rest of the township. At present, on petition of 60 per cent of the taxpayers a part of a township can annex itself to the city without an election. This is considered unfair by some voters.

Mr. Klein stated that one-seventh of the population of Pennsylvania resides in the state's 58 first-class townships, of which 23, with assessed valuation of $156,000,000, are in Allegheny County.

Accentuating Easter Costumes

Jewelry

Whether your costume calls for the newest simulated pearls (which are disc shaped, by the way) or for copies of Premet's metal jewelry in gold or silver finish; or whether semi-precious stones with their deep, thrilling colors appeal to you, you'll find a good assortment of every sort of costume jewelry here, and you may be assured of its newness, its smartness, and its value.

Handbags

Shades of honey beige and blue are perhaps the most important colors for handbags at this particular season, because of their prominence all through the mode. But whether your costume requires one of these or a less usual color, you will find what you want in the large and varied selection of Easter bags assembled here. Bags of many kinds at many prices, from $4.95 to $38.50.

. . . Horne's, Main Floor . . .

Scarfs

Scarfs are particularly important this spring, and they come in greater variety than almost ever before. Crepe de Chine triangles are perhaps the most popular and easy-to-wear version, but there are a great many unusual scarfs, copied from the noted couturiers, such as Chanel's lapel scarf — the newest and smartest accessory for spring suits. $1.95 to $10.95.

DRESSES:

At $16.75 and $25.00 there is wide choice of dresses to wear under separate coats, or to help form ensembles—both simple and fluffy frocks. They are of flat crepe in solid colors, and of printed silks and printed georgette, including polka dots. Kerchief scarfs are one of their popular features.

COATS:

There are both sports and dressy coats at each price in the range of $25.00, $39.50, $49.50 and $65.00. In the dressy coats the fabrics are faille, faille-with-velvet, moire, and lightweight cloths.

Some are unfurred, others have collars of fur, or fur cuffs only.

THE ENSEMBLES:

Those with long coats include dressy models, with coats of wool crepe with printed dresses, or of georgette with plain or printed dresses; and sports-type models, with coats and skirts of tweed, accompanied by sweaters.

Extremely smart are ensembles with velvet jackets, accompanied by silk frocks, or with pleated silk skirts and contrasting silk blouses.

Polka Dots

In New Dresses for Women and Misses

To wear a polka dot frock is to proclaim to the world that you belong to this modern age, that you are young in spirit no matter what the records may show as to your years.

To see some of the best-looking polka dots imaginable, at moderate cost, is to see those offered by the women's and misses' dress sections, at

$25.00 to $39.50

The women's dresses include polka dots in many sizes, beginning with those in pinhead circumference, in navy-and-white and black-and-white; also, there are confetti dots in multi-colored effects.

Striking in the misses' models are polka dot frocks with skirt and blouse in harmonious shades of the same color, frocks in shadow polka dots, ombre polka dots, and polka dots in uncommon color combinations.

It comes in black kid, tan Russia calf, stone kid, and in patent leather with black mat kid quarter.

Few people will feel they can afford to miss such an opportunity. This week of special prices is intended to celebrate the recent joining of the personnel of Palmer's Silk Store with that of Horne's.

PROBE DUMPING COMPLAINT

A councilmanic inquiry into the action of the Bureau of Highways and Sewers in permitting street sweepings to be dumped on private property in South Eighteenth street extension has been ordered as a result of information furnished Council yesterday by Assistant City Solicitor Thomas M. Benner.

Mrs. Bessie L. Schwartz, owner of a dwelling in the rear of 2661 South Eighteenth street extension, filed a claim for $1,000 damages, alleging that for 10 years the hillside had been used for a dump. Despite the protests of property owners, Benner said, the bureau had sanctioned the use of the hillside as a dumping place.

WHISKY, DOPE IS STOLEN

Thieves last night entered Wall's drug store, 642 Fifth avenue, and stole its entire stock of narcotics and prescription whisky, according to a report to the city detectives.

Owners of the store declined to estimate the loss until prohibition agents had visited the scene.

Appeals In City's Ban on School Flowers

June may not be so rosy for high school graduates. Public Works Director Edward G. Lang and James Moore, superintendent of parks, believe the city is doing too much in furnishing the floral decorations for high school commencements. A. L. Lewin, school director, yesterday appealed to Director Lang to continue supplying the flowers, despite the director's order to restrict the service to purely city needs. Council, which has not yet taken sides, has asked Director Lang to submit a report.

PROBE FATAL OHIO TOWN BLAZE

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., April 4.—(AP.)—Official inquiry into the origin of the fire that yesterday took the lives of two volunteer firemen of Brookside, O., and burned two large buildings with a property loss of $60,000 will be started today. State fire marshals were expected here to open the state's investigation.

Coroner J. W. Neal, of Belmont county, after questioning several boys who were with Cecil James Lilly, 18, and Paul Trouten, 24, when they were killed by a falling wall, said he would delay the inquest until Thursday.

The town is without a municipal water system and a mass meeting will be held Thursday to launch plans for a city water system.

The fire menaced the entire business district but fire fighting companies from nearby towns responded to calls for aid and controlled the flames after a five hour fight. Three firemen were slightly injured. Crossed electric wires were believed by firemen to have started the fire.

USES DYNAMITE; FAILS TO HIT TARGET

McMECHEN, W. Va., April 6.—Two persons are dead and four others are in a serious condition in the Glendale Hospital as a result of an explosion of dynamite last night in the boarding house of Mrs. Julia Karp, 42, set off by John Sebert, 50, a boarder, after Mrs. Karp had told him she intended to return to her estranged husband.

Sebert and Mrs. Karp's 13-year-old daughter, Stella, were killed. Mrs. Karp, Joseph Mokoski and his wife, and Donel Butler, boarders, were injured seriously and were taken to the hospital at Glendale.

Mrs. Karp, her skull fractured, told Coroner D. B. Ealy that Sebert, infatuated with her, had attempted to keep her from going back to her husband. When she entered the house last night she noticed Sebert had a battery in his pocket and a dynamite cap in his hand. Realizing what he intended to do, she ran for the door, but Sebert set off the dynamite, placed under a kitchen table.

The explosion wrecked the Karp dwelling and a house next door. Sebert's severed hand, clutching a dynamite cap, was found later.

HE NEVER FELT BETTER THAN NOW

Local Conductor Restored to Health by Ten Herbs; Son Also Relieved.

"I felt so bad that I was on the point of giving up my job," was the statement of Mr. Fred Coudriet, 615 Freeland Street, South Hills, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at the May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating the new herbal compound, Ten Herbs. "When I read in the papers how much good Ten Herbs was doing others, I started teaking it, and I have never felt better in my life than I do now," continued Mr. Coudriet, popular conductor, who has been employed by the Pittsburgh Railways Co. for 26 years.

"For the last 10 or 15 years I was troubled with my stomach. Food did not digest properly. I always had a craving appetite, but was afraid to eat—I have gone a whole week without eating. When I did eat I would fill with gas and bloat terribly. I was constipated and had to take physics continually. My liver was sluggish and I lost all ambition. I think my kidneys caused the awful pains across my back. In fact, I was just about in a down-and-out condition.

"Ten Herbs certainly made a big change in me. I had not finished the second bottle when I noticed this change. My bowels became regular and my liver and kidneys more active. The pains left my back and I seemed to have new life. My appetite returned and I could eat anything without fear of gas or bloating.

"My son, who is 20 years old, had ailments similar to mine. When he saw what good results I was getting from Ten Herbs he started using your medicine and he got the same fine results that I did. Ten Herbs seems to purify the whole alimentary tract, so that Nature may respond to such purification by creating good digestion, more strength, purer blood and real nerve vigor. My son and I gladly endorse Ten Herbs to the public, as it is a wonderful medicine."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

"My Whole System Is Vastly Improved"

Writes Father J. S. RICARD

Noted Scientist of University of Santa Clara Observatory

"Observatory,
"April 18, 1927.

"Before using the I-on-a-co there was something wrong with the operation of my heart (Angina Pectoris) and of my lungs and above all in the digestive functions, pain in the bowels and difficult elimination.

"Now after using I-on-a-co about a dozen times my whole system is vastly improved. And the pain in the region of the heart is completely gone. As a consequence the will to do things has returned to normalcy.

"This is my experience and I cannot attribute it to anything else but I-on-a-co.

"The I-on-a-co is thoroughly scientific. It is a strong electro-magnet and when applied to the human system it places it in the focus of a strong magnetic field, where the cells of the blood and in fact every bit of the human substance is energized and ionized; so much so that better circulation of the blood sets in at once and enables the faculties of the system duly to discharge their appropriate functions.

"Very truly yours,

(Signed) "JEROME S. RICARD, S. J.

Judge the I-ON-A-CO entirely on what it does in your own case. It will cost you nothing and there is absolutely no obligation. Just come into our offices and use the I-ON-A-CO for ten minutes. Use it once, or several times. Or phone us, and we will arrange for you to try the I-ON-A-CO in your own home.

There is nothing mysterious about the I-ON-A-CO. It is simply a strong electro-magnet, as the noted Father Ricard writes, that is designed to help the body throw off the natural poisons and waste matter that accumulate in the system and so often result in ill health.

If you value your health, at least investigate the I-ON-A-CO.

TWO MORE HURT IN MINE FIGHT OVER GAME

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 4—Gambling quarrels in the mining camps of Washington county claimed two additional casualties today, J. W. Wild and Michael Kuleskie, of Avella, being rushed to Pittsburgh hospitals for treatments for serious knife wounds, and Floyd Ellis, Negro miner of Avella, lodged in the jail here under $1,000 bail to await the outcome of the wounds he is accused of having inflicted.

Coroner William B. Baker conducted an inquest at Hills Station today in the fatal gambling quarrel in which James Allen was shot and killed. The coroner's jury recommended that Barney Brown be apprehended as Allen's slayer.

ORDER SALOON 'PADLOCKED'

A saloon on the first floor of a building at 7048 Frankstown avenue has been ordered "padlocked" for one year by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson, because of violations of the prohibition law, Larry Hufnagel, Joe J. Smith and Robert W. Cypres, were named in the bill of complaint as the owners.

2 BROTHERS HELD IN POSTOFFICE ROBBERY

RIDGWAY, Pa., April 4—Two brothers, Stanley and Walter Tomaski, 14 and 16, were arrested last night as suspects in the robbery of the Lanes Mills postoffice, five miles south of here, on March 17. The boys, police say, admitted the theft, turning $31, part of the alleged loot over to officers.

OFFICERS' PLEA 'NO DEFENSE' IN FAILURE

On a hearing of pleas of no defense to charges of conspiracy entered yesterday in Criminal Court by A. C. Leslie of Plainfield street, president of the defunct Pittsburgh Deposit and Title Company, and J. C. Umsted of Espey avenue, Dormont, Frank W. Jackson of the Pennsylvania Department of Banking, disclosed that the failure of the bank involved a loss of $650,000.

Cash of $375,000 is ready for distribution, according to an account to be completed within a few days, and property worth $63,000 is yet to be converted into cash, he testified.

The practice of Leslie and Umsted in transferring bank funds to the Central Homes Company by mortgages to "straw" men, which brought about the failure of the bank, was described by Jackson. Mortgages aggregating $186,000 were placed by these so-called "straw" men on eight vacant properties. Two of these mortgages were second mortgages. It was alleged the properties were actually owned by the Central Homes Company. The money was advanced by the bank to the company, either directly or through the mortgagers. The property was appraised by Umsted, general manager of the company, as improved property. The money was intended for construction of houses on the property.

The conspiracy charge involved the $186,000 of mortgages. Leslie also pleaded no defense to charges of embezzlement involving $296,000 of the bank funds, advanced on the eight mortgages and four additional mortgages. Net proceeds of the 12 mortgages were $11,680. He also pleaded no defense to a charge of conspiracy to receive deposits after bank was insolvent and to charges of misdemeanor for receiving such deposits knowing the bank was insolvent. Jackson testified that there was nothing on the bank records to show that money was advanced on second mortgages.

E. E. Reiss of Peermont avenue, Dormont, also indicted on the charges of conspiracy and embezzlement, and slated for trial yesterday, did not enter any pleas. Umsted, on the stand, testified that Reiss was not involved in the transactions. Umsted admitted having made the appraisals on the vacant properties and giving them a value as improved properties. He said they expected to build houses on the properties.

The bank failed last September. It was located at 341 Fourth avenue. Jackson testified that an additional recovery of about 5 per cent will reduce the estimated loss of $650,000. Assistant District Attorney Harry R. Phillips conducted the examination and defendants were represented by Congressman Harry Estep.

Yesterday afternoon Leslie took the stand and admitted the practices charged.

Judge Ben Lindsey to Portray Role in Screen Version of His Book, 'Companionate Marriage'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS,
Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, April 4.

NOTHING escapes the movies. That is, nothing worth while. Judge Ben Lindsey's famous book, "Companionate Marriage," probably the most widely read and discussed book of last year, has been purchased by Sam Sax and Asher, Small & Rogers. Object, of course, being the films.

If you know anything about Judge Lindsey and the way he works, you can be reasonably sure he will not permit his book to be filmed without having a finger in the pie. That, I believe, was one of the stipulations in the sale.

He is scheduled to arrive in Hollywood within the next week to collaborate and help write the scenario and to translate, if possible, for the medium of the screen, the correct definition of "Companionate Marriage." Furthermore, the Judge himself will play a part in the production. I don't know just how or why, but we can answer that soon, for production will be started the latter part of April.

You wouldn't expect Mr Sax, Mr. Asher, Mr. Small and Mr. Rogers, who paid a young fortune for the privilege of filming Judge Lindsey's "Companionate Marriage," to release it in the ordinary way. That would be simply out of the question. They plan to road-show it throughout the country, showing it in the legitimate houses and charging $2 prices.

The red-haired Clara Bow, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis, is exercising her stellar rights by taking three weeks more rest before she begins on "Ladies of the Mob." Clara, who has grown very grand since the days when I knew her, and very important, ah me, ah me, took no chance of being refused an additional holiday. She flourished the doctor's orders that she wait two weeks longer before she begins work in the face of B. P. Schulberg. What could poor B. P. do in a case like that? The kindest man in the world, he couldn't refuse poor little Clara an extra two weeks.

She has already been convalescing five weeks, but he didn't want her to return to work until she was well. So now she will sail for Vancouver immediately—for a holiday.

"Virtue is its own reward" easily can be paraphrased to "slenderness is its own reward." Carmel Myers, who has taken off many, many pounds and who looks almost as svelte as Greta Garbo, has been signed by the Gotham Company for three specials. This contract was inspired by "The Girl From Rio," which she made for them some months ago. She will do "The Girl From Argentine," a sequel and a modern version of Sapho. Both of these stories were written with Carmel in mind, all of which puts the talk of her going on the vaudeville stage somewhat in the well-known background.

Heroic

GEORGE RYMER

Mr. Rymer plays the hero role, a Yankee captain, in "My Maryland," operetta in the Alvin, his love for a Southern girl forming the romance and theme of the tale.

MUSIC, DRAMA IN BILLS

"The Love Call" a musical version of the famous drama, "Arizona," featuring John Barker and Berna Deane will be here next week. The company is a large one, totaling more than 100, with a large male chorus. The sale of seats will begin tomorrow morning. Monday night's performance will be given in Syria Mosque under the auspices of Syria Temple Automobile Club. All other performances will be given in the Alvin.

Opening next Monday night, with performances twice daily thereafter, in the Nixon, "Wings," dramatic photoplay, will be the attraction. The sale of seats will open in the Nixon box office at 9 Thursday morning. It is a picture of aviation in the World War, featuring Richard Arlen and Clara Bow.

The George Sharp Players are in town, rehearsing "Take My Advice," which opens in the Pitt Monday. Ralph Morgan will play the leading role, which he acted during the run of the piece in the Belmont Theater, New York. Anne Forrest, who recently closed in "Quicksands" in New York, will appear as leading woman.

Next week in the Davis, Bert Lytell will appear in the dramatic playlet, "The Valiant," by Holworthy Hall and Robert Middlemass. On the screen will be William Russell in "Woman Wise."

DANCES ARE SCHEDULED SATURDAY AFTERNOONS

Beginning next Saturday, a weekly Saturday afternoon dansant will be given from 1:30 until 5:30 o'clock in the Venice Restaurant, 219 Diamond steet, in conjunction with the appearance of the S. S. Leviathan orchestra, under the direction of Nelson Maple. The Leviathan Orchestra opened its engagement at the Venice and Flotilla Club this week. It plays from 6:30 until 8:30 p. m. in the Venice and later for the regular nightly dancing in the Flotilla.

Run-down?.....
Take Nature's advice
you need more BILE

NOBODY admires a run-down, tired, eternally ailing man or woman. Jobs with good pay—social popularity—go to people who always radiate health; people who look alert and efficient.

If you feel languid and depressed; if you suffer from dizzy headaches, poor complexion, constipation—take Zilatone.

Zilatone, a remarkable new scientific discovery, is based on safe, natural principles. It does not drug the body, but contains the very same elements that Nature herself provides to keep the body healthy and normal.

An insufficient bile flow causes the intestines to become clogged with putrefying materials. Poisons and disease-breeding germs then spread through the body, robbing us of health, and often causing such serious ailments as heart and kidney trouble, gall stones, premature old age.

But by stimulating the bile flow and other digestive juices, Zilatone sweeps away intestinal poisons. Checks putrefaction. Purifies the blood. Benefits are so remarkable that soon you feel like a new person.

Ask Your Druggist

Your druggist will be glad to tell you all about Zilatone and what it can do for you. Ask him. If Zilatone fails to delight you, money gladly refunded. Get Zilatone today from your druggist.

Zilatone is recommended and sold in this city by all the May Drug Stores and other live druggists.

They have found, too, that Postum is a wonderful drink in its own right. A drink, made from roasted whole wheat and bran, with a rich, distinctive flavor—a flavor millions prefer to that of any other drink!

Now you try Postum—try it for thirty days in place of caffein beverages. See what a difference it makes in the way you feel! Like the others, you'll become a Postum user for life! Your grocer has Postum in two forms—Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup, and Postum Cereal, the kind you boil. MIRRORS FOR ALL

STATE LAW SAYS

Motor vehicle laws say that each motor car must be equipped with mirrors, but not for such use as Margaret Ryan is making of the rear vision equipment carried on the spare tire at side of the car. Mirrors must be placed to afford the driver clear vision to the rear, says Miss Ryan, who is assisting in the statewide Safety-"Save-a-Life"-Campaign being conducted throughout April.

ALONG AUTO ROW

As automobile men throughout the city and state open their service shops to the motoring public to assure safer cars and the success of the State's April Safety—"Save-a-Life" campaign, a bulletin from the National Safety Council brings the information that city streets are often safer than the homes. During the month of January 1,760 persons were killed on the streets of the various cities. Against this number, the bulletin adds, 2,020 persons died from accidents which occurred within their homes during the same month.

DRIVERS TO MEET

The Western Pennsylvania Safety Council tonight will conduct the second of its Safe Drivers' Club meetings in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. Those who attend these meetings will learn much about the efficiency of safe driving, traffic rules and regulations, rules of the road and other practical phases of traffic problems.

FASHION PARADE

Every day is fashion day in the automotive world, conversations of motor car executives would lead one to believe. Peerless is the latest to come forward with the announcement of a new body style. In this instance it is a smart, dashing design of the brougham type to go on the Six-60 chassis. Peerless also will equip its Six-80 sedan with saddle lamps instead of the customary small lamps in the cowl.

RICKENBACKER DELAYS VISIT

Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, who now has charge of LaSalle sales, has postponed his visit to this city until a later date, an announcement from McAlister Brothers states. A new date for his forthcoming visit is expected within a few days.

EAGER TO SEE NEW CARS

The public is just as eager as ever to see new cars, a visit to the salesrooms of Frank D. Saupp, Inc., Dodge distributor, and the George F. Reed Moon Company, Moon and Diana distributors, indicates. Mr. Saupp is displaying the newest of Dodge creations, a Standard Six, while Mr. Reed is exhibiting a new line of straight eights, the Moon aero type 8-80.

RECORD BROKEN

Auto manufacturers, with a few exceptions, are breaking records of one kind or another each day. Packard is the latest to join this long line of record-breaking companies. A rapidly increasing production, indicating a popular demand, is Packard's latest claim for space in newspaper columns.

PRICES DECREASE

As many automobile producers freely predict that the next movement of auto prices will be upward, the Falcon-Knight organization comes forward with an announcement of lower prices, in spite of the fact that many improvements have been made to that car.

QUITTING BUSINESS

The Motor Tire Corporation, for nine years distributors here of tires and auto accessories, soon will pass out of the business picture of this city. That organization is now conducting a closing-out sale to dispose of its large stocks.

SNEAKING OFFICER TABOO

Shelby, Mich., is the latest town to condemn the speed trap. And if Shelby has a motorcycle officer this season he must remain out in the open and not sneak up on unsuspecting motorists, its citizens have decided at the polls. The question of the tactics of the motorcycle officer was carried to the polls when Shelby was charged with maintaining a speed trap.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

"SAVE-A-LIFE" DRIVE ON

AUTO DEALERS AID BY BRAKE TESTS

Hundreds of motorists throughout Pittsburgh have joined in the Safety "Save-a-Life" Campaign sponsored by city and state officials and in Pittsburgh by the Automobile Dealers' Association.

The campaign, which opened Monday, has already enlisted the support of hundreds of drivers who have taken advantage of the offer from dealers and service stations to test brakes, lights, horns, steering mechanism and windshield wipers, held liable for 30 per cent of automobile accidents.

The remaining 70 per cent of accident causes are blamed upon the personal equation — careless, thoughtless, even reckless ignorance of traffic laws or without intention of obeying them.

Proclamations asking all drivers to actively enter the safety campaign had been issued last week by Gov. John S. Fisher, Mayor Charles H. Kline, and burgesses of adjoining suburbs. The campaign, to last four weeks, is state wide and is sponsored by automobile associations in every section.

Garage and service station operators throughout the state which have been designated official motor vehicle inspection stations have promised free inspection of all cars. In several such stations in Pittsburgh they have reported an avalanche of requests. When a car has been inspected and found in "safe" condition, a windshield sticker is provided which will be honored by police inspectors without further inspection unless additional inspection is apparently necessary. This applies to state patrols as well as Pittsburgh police.

SEA DIVING SHOW AT AUTO COMPANY

F. G. Smith, a member of the United States Navy's diving team, which assisted in the rescue work on the S-51, and Col. F. L. Dennis, president of the Studebaker Sales Company, inspecting the telephone lead of the diving suit worn by C. C. McWilliams of the East End, who is giving exhibitions of deep sea diving in a huge tank at the show room of the Studebaker company, Baum boulevard, for three hours each afternoon and night this week. At the end of the week, McWilliams hopes to break the world endurance under water record of 15 hours, by remaining under water for 24 hours. The diving suit weighs 175 pounds.

BATTERY FAILS, USE DRY CELL

When the storage battery is removed from a car for recharging or repairs, it is usually possible to obtain from a garage or electrical service station, one of their "rental" batteries, which can be installed in the place of the one which has been removed from service, thus obviating any loss of use of the electrical equipment and of the car.

However, a battery may go out of commission completely, when a car is at such a distance from any storage battery station, that a long time will be required to obtain a replacement and it is well for every motorist to realize that, in such an event, the ignition system can be put into action and the car operated by means of four ordinary dry-cells, which can generally be obtained in remote localities where storage battery service is not to be had.

The four cells should be connected in series (outside terminal of one to the center terminal of the next) and the free terminal of one end cell electrically connected to the car frame, by clamping the end of a wire attached to it securely under some nut on the engine or frame. A wire from the other cell should then be wound tightly around the cleaned clamp of the cable that has previously been removed from the ungrounded or live terminal of the storage battery, so as to make a good electrical connection.

At this SEASON

Most cars need-

1—Fresh Oil Because the changing temperatures of early spring cause dangerous dilution of crankcase oil.

2—Fresh Grease Because the cold and slush of winter leave grease stiff... lifeless.

3—Fresh Water Because radiators may still contain alcohol and sediment, causing motors to over-heat... "boil over."

At Pure Oil Service Stations trained attendants are ready to care for the needs of your car...

.. to drain and flush the crankcase and refill with Tiolene Motor Oil of the summer weight.

.. to refresh the grease in the transmission, differential, and the many friction points of the chassis.

.. to drain and cleanse the cooling system, and refill with clean water.

And the cost is slight—a special flat rate for the greasing, plus the price of the oil required.

Start the sunny season right... get this Pure Oil service now! It will revive your winter-weary car—assure smoother, livelier performance... mile after mile of carefree driving.

Tiolene 100% Super-Pennsylvania Motor Oil and Tiolene Greases are already known for the long-lived lubrication which they give.

One of the major producers, refiners and marketers of petroleum products, yet strictly independent.

KEEP IT CLEAN!

OR INVITE FINE

During the April Safety-"Save-a-Life"-Campaign being conducted throughout the state the importance of a thorough knowledge of motor vehicle laws is being stressed. The laws say about license tags: "They shall be maintained free from foreign material and in a condition to be clearly legible." During the campaign motorists are invited to have their cars inspected free at garages designated as official service stations.

SALES JUMP OVER '26 HELD OMEN FOR YEAR

With spring smiling over the city, the local automotive industry has every reason to forecast a record season of prosperity. Since the first of the year sales have been pressing along at a brisk pace, with March taking a substantial lead. There is a large gain reported by local dealers when comparing the period from January 1 to a similar quota of months last year.

A conservative analysis of the situation, from the dealers' standpoint, given by W. N. Owings, secretary of the Pittsburgh Automobile Dealers' Association, follows:

"All indications point to an interesting volume of new-car business for the spring season that will in every way measure up with sales for the previous years.

"In the used-car field the stocks on hand are normal and tangible. Dealers in several of the popular makes of vehicles, both medium and high priced, declare that new-car sales without trade-ins are conspicuous factors at the present time. This denotes a healthy business condition. Further, there is a good demand for used cars, to judge from the amount of spring shopping and booked sales.

"Suburban dealers are enjoying good business, which creditably reflects back to the distributors.

"Production is normal and in proportion to sales demand.

"Because many dealers report low car stocks on hand, it is well for the buyer to remember that it may prove ill-advised economy to wait until the spring is too far advanced before placing orders for new automobiles. When orders come rushing in some of the late ones will be obliged to wait for delivery, if signs of the times hold good."

Increased Auto Trade Cheers Business

NEW YORK, April 4.

THE picking up of automobile production in this country should be encouraging to all other businesses, according to O. P. Pearson, statistician of the National Chamber of Commerce.

Figures, he says, show that automotive manufacturers buy 11 per cent of the rolled steel and iron, 80 per cent of the domestic production of gasoline and other materials in vast quantities.

Naturally, he adds, increased production of motor vehicles increases the market for these in general.

BUICK CO. HAS SPRING SHOW

Buick Motor Company's Spring Fashion show, an arrangement of its newest models in a setting of springtime flowers and greens, carries a call of the open road to hundreds of motorists attracted to the display.

While the entire showroom is garlanded in roses, dahlias and simple blooms of springtime, in one corner is a display devoted entirely to milady's penchant for the season's freshness. In the foreground one of the latest models of the Buick line sits on a specially constructed platform, while behind it is a huge opened fan, the work of a clever artist. Behind the fan silken draperies in soft colors add the finishing touch to the ensemble. This feature of the Buick display alone cost more than $1,000.

On all sides the various Buick models are arranged in appropriate settings particularly suited to each. The ensemble effect is one of dainty springtime.

41 MODELS IN SAMSON SHOW

Forty-one models out of a shipment of 45 carloads received last week make up the Samson Motor Company's Easter week display of Chrysler cars.

All tastes are satisfied in the display which, too large for the main showroom, fills up the service delivery room. The showroom, where numerous of the latest body styles in various power units are tastefully arranged, is a genuine harbinger of spring. Palms and ferns are the principal items in the floral decorations, but boxes of rambler roses add a touch of the open air. In each corner canaries in "gilded cages" sing merrily.

By a rearrangement of the flood lights on the front of the building, the showroom's quiet taste is accentuated. To the passing autoist the ensemble is a burst of spring.

GAS PUMP TO EVERY MILE OF GOOD ROAD

There's a gasoline station to every mile and eight-tenths of improved highway and a gasoline pump for every mile in this country. For 575,000 miles of improved road, there are 317,000 retail gas stations and 604,000 pumps.

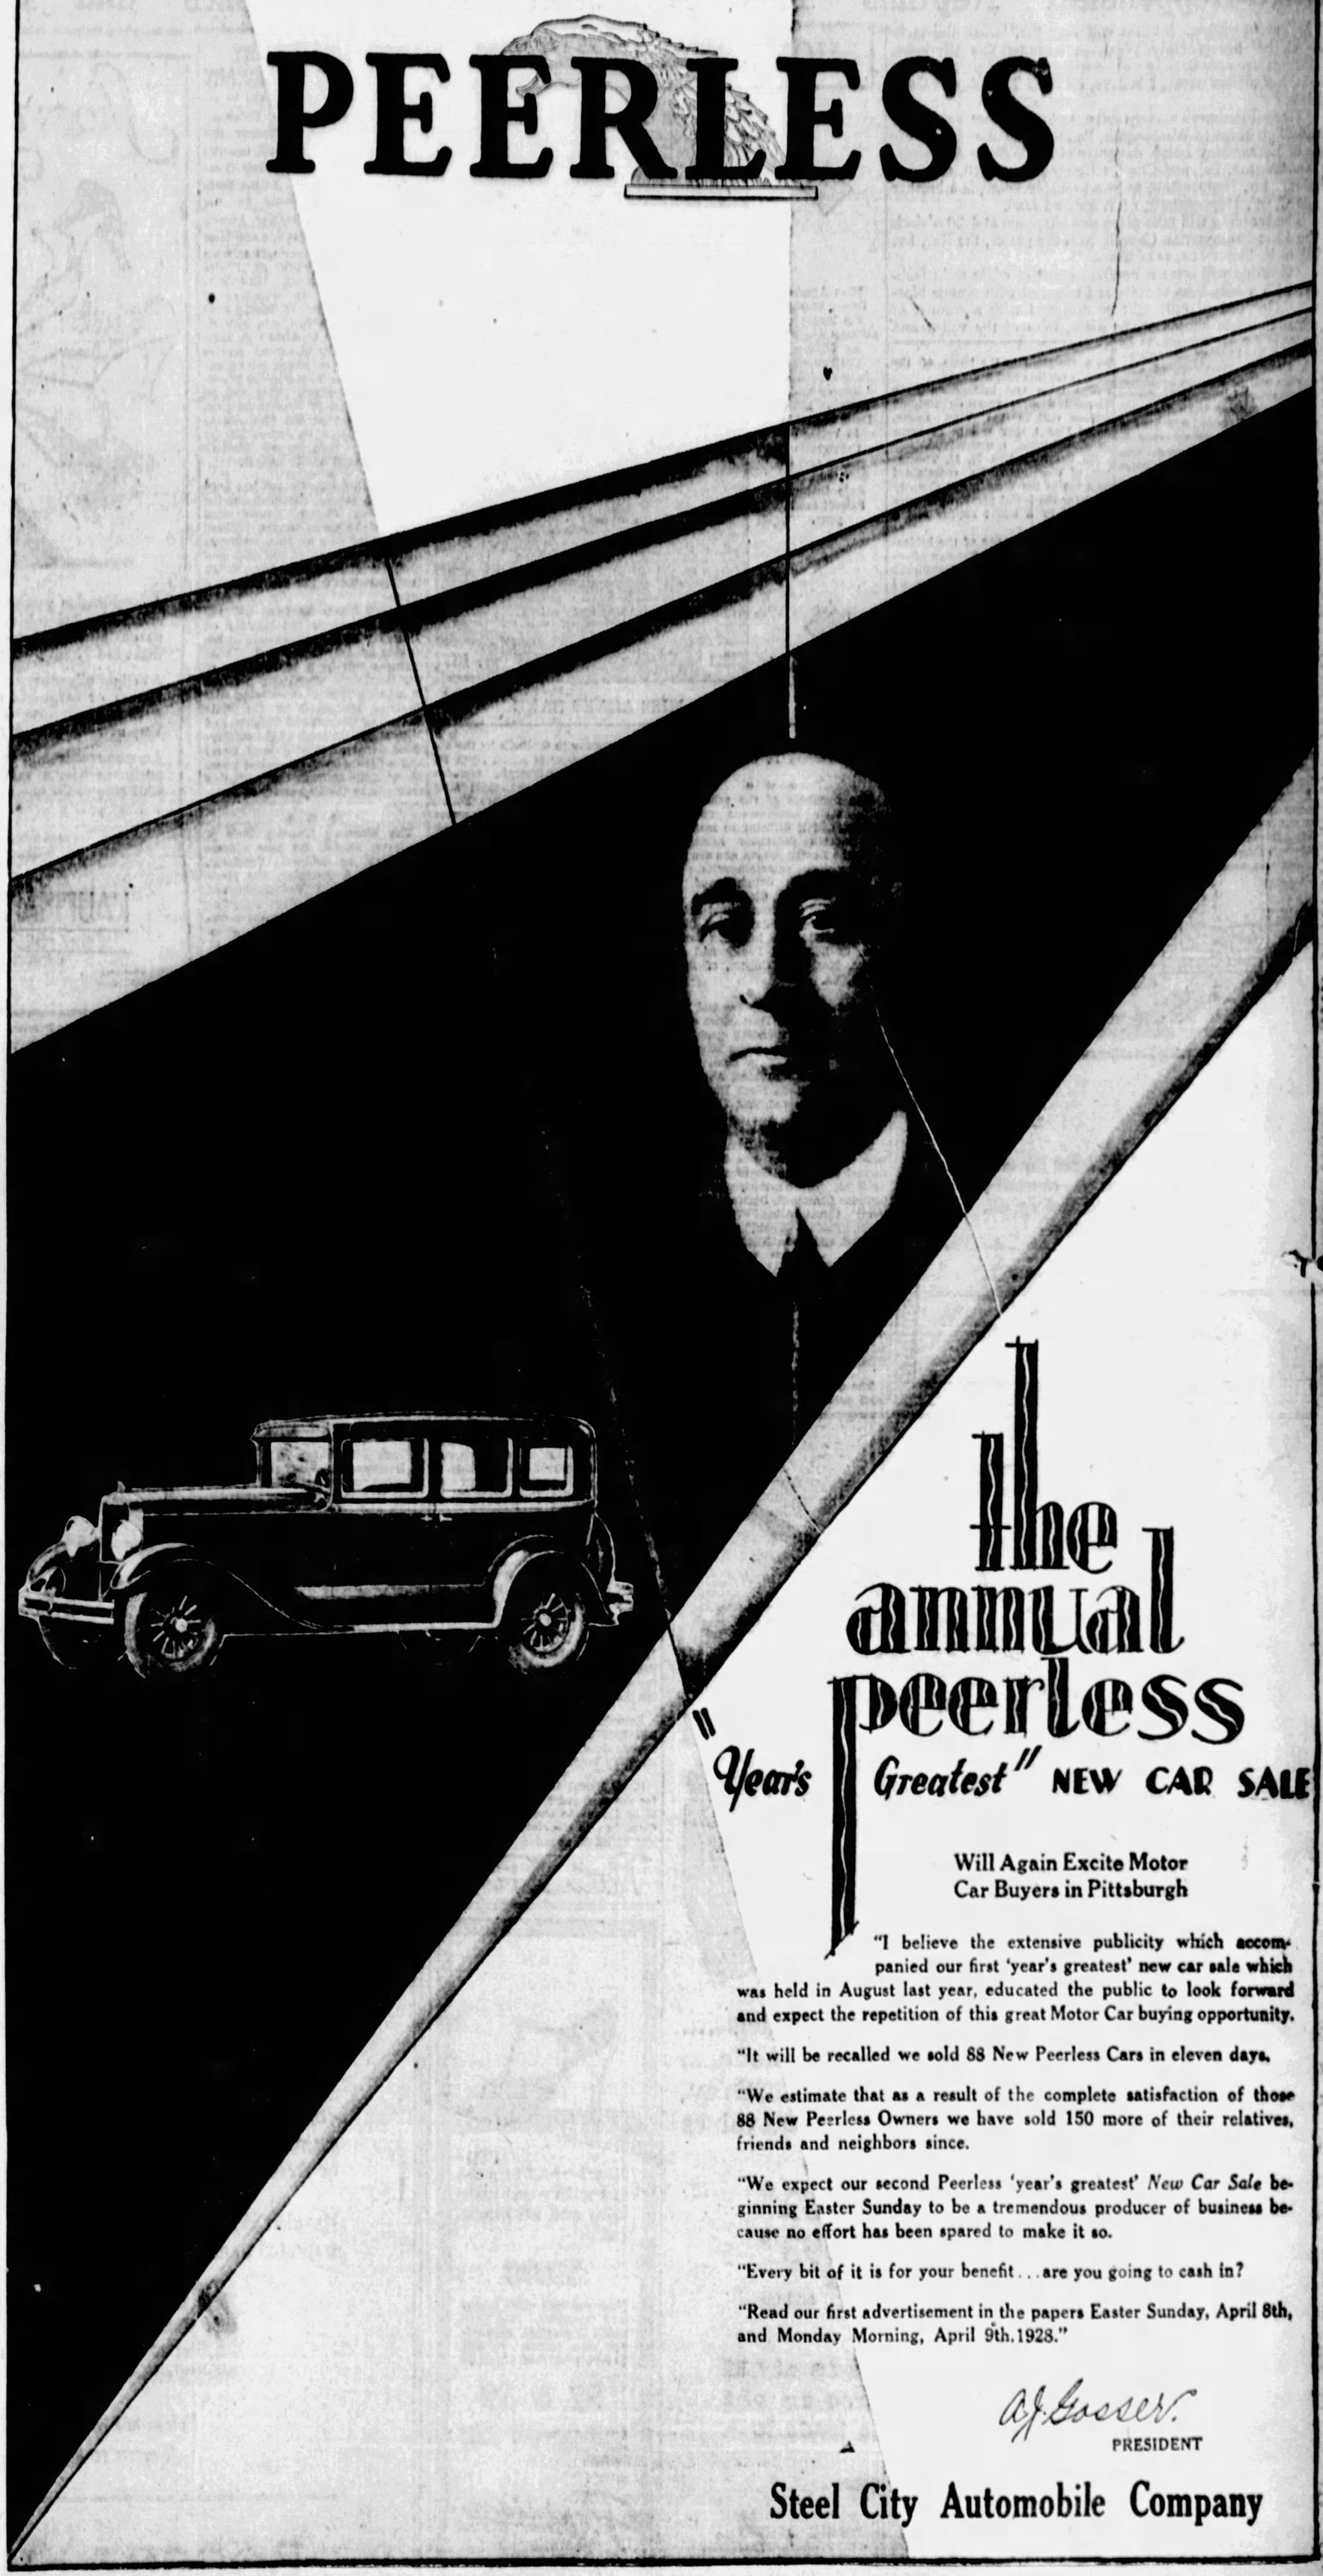
PEERLESS



the annual peerless "Year's Greatest" NEW CAR SALE

Will Again Excite Motor Car Buyers in Pittsburgh

"I believe the extensive publicity which accompanied our first 'year's greatest' new car sale which was held in August last year, educated the public to look forward and expect the repetition of this great Motor Car buying opportunity.

"It will be recalled we sold 88 New Peerless Cars in eleven days.

"We estimate that as a result of the complete satisfaction of those 88 New Peerless Owners we have sold 150 more of their relatives, friends and neighbors since.

"We expect our second Peerless 'year's greatest' New Car Sale beginning Easter Sunday to be a tremendous producer of business because no effort has been spared to make it so.

"Every bit of it is for your benefit . . . are you going to cash in?

"Read our first advertisement in the papers Easter Sunday, April 8th, and Monday Morning, April 9th, 1928."

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Baird-Heppenstall Nuptials This Afternoon Enliven "Ashes and Sackcloth" Life of Week

ONE event of great interest will vary the "ashes and sackcloth" life of Holy Week—a wedding this afternoon. Weddings are occasionally held during the early part of Holy Week, but almost never, I believe, on Holy Thursday or Good Friday.

Many Pittsburgh society folks, and some from Sewickley, too, will go down to Washington, Pa., today to attend the wedding of Esther May Baird, daughter of the William A. Bairds, of Washington, Pa., and Charles Henry Heppenstall, of Philadelphia. Mr. Heppenstall, as you probably know, is a brother of the C. W. Heppenstalls, of Woodland road.

The wedding will take place this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church, with the pastor, the Rev. Dr. William E. Slemmons, as officiant.

The bride will wear a bouffant gown of white satin fashioned with a deep hem of tulle and trimmed with orange blossoms. Her veil of tulle will be arranged with a coronet of pearls. She has chosen white lilacs, lilies of the valley and white roses for her bouquet, to be showered with lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Cecil P. Northrop, of Chicago, who will be matron of honor, and Catherine Duncan, of Washington, Pa., a cousin of the bride, who will be maid of honor, will appear in gowns of pale yellow chiffon, fashioned with full sleeves and capes. They will carry white lilacs and lavender spring flowers.

Frocks of green chiffon, made in the same style, will be worn by the bridesmaids, who will be Rachel Heppenstall, niece of the bridegroom, and daughter of the C. W. Heppenstalls, of Woodland road; Katherine Stevay, Mary Mevay and Dorothy Baum, all of Washington, Pa. There will be two little flower girls, Eleanor Atwood, of Sewickley, and Ruth Thompson, of Washington.

Walter Heppenstall, of Philadelphia, will be his brother's best man, and the ushers will include Samuel Heppenstall, of Pittsburgh, nephew of the bridegroom; Henry Bonner, of Detroit; Sydney Wightman, of Gary, Ind.; John Carter, of Wheeling, W. Va.; Thomas Christman, John Julius Baird and George Baird, all of Washington, and Cecil P. Northrop, of Chicago.

Mrs. Baird, mother of the bride, will wear cream lace with a hat to match and wear a shoulder bouquet of spring flowers.

Following the wedding there will be a reception in the home of the bride's parents and a dinner.

The bride and bridegroom have planned a most romantic wedding trip—a visit to the West Indies. After May 1 they will be at home in Philadelphia, I understand.

On Saturday Mrs. H. M. Thompson, of Washington, Pa., entertained at a tea in the Washington Country Club for the bridal party, which was followed by a buffet supper and a dance.

Dorothy Baum, one of the bridesmaids, gave a bridge Monday afternoon in the George Washington Hotel for the bride. The rehearsal dinner was given last night by Mrs. H. B. Duncan, of Washington, Pa., in her home.

Shortly after Easter nearly all Pittsburghers will have returned from their wanderings, it seems. Palm Beach is being gradually deserted. The T. Richard Cowells left that popular resort on Monday for Pittsburgh. Before their departure they attended the final dinner dance of the season at the Everglades Club, held Sunday evening in the Orange Gardens. They had as their guests at this event the J. M. MacIntoshes and Mme. Soldatenkov.

The Alfred G. Kays were also noted among those attending this dinner-dance. They were the guests of the Thomas L. Chadbournes, I hear.

The members of the school set, with their effervescent youthful spirits, find it difficult to maintain the solemn demeanor associated with the Lenten season and are giving occasional entertainments.

Peggy Clark, daughter of the James Murdock Clarks, has returned from Garrison Forest School for the Easter holidays. Mrs. Clark will entertain at a luncheon tomorrow in honor of Peggy and her guest, Katherine Chisim, of Richmond, Va.

The James B. Laughlins and Miss E. I. Watkins, of Devonshire drive, who have been spending some time in Ormond Beach, as you know, are at the Barclay, New York, where the Laughlins' daughter, Alice, and her guest, Natalie Hays Hammond, of Washington and New York, have joined them.

* * *

Senior men of the Carnegie Institute of Technology will hold their annual ball in the Morrowfield Hotel April 12. The committee in charge includes Charles F. Dickinson, chairman; Adrian Allen, William Bernardi, Shelby McMillion, William Kunkel and John Rietz.

May 9 is the date chosen by Miss Martha Converse Gleffer, daughter of Mrs. Harry W. Gleffer, of the Negley apartments, for her marriage to John Murdoch Clarke, of Philadelphia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Clarke, of Morrell street, North Side.

* * *

The committee for the second annual endowment bridge party to be held Saturday in Gimbel's by the active Iota chapter of Alpha Delta Pi, University of Pittsburgh, includes Miss Dorothy Coy, chairman; Miss Mary Kinder, Miss Florence Yorke, Miss Betty Webb, Miss Margaret Evans, Miss Eunice Williamson and Miss Helen Bashore. The endowment fund was established two years ago on the anniversary of the seventy-fifth birthday of the founding of the fraternity in Macon, Ga. The sum of $75,000 was set aside for a day nursery to be established in the South.

Pays $77,000 For "Alice in Wonderland"

LONDON, April 4.—(AP.)—A record sight unseen offer for the manuscript of Lewis Carroll's "Alice In Wonderland," has been made by trans-Atlantic telephone, Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach, of Philadelphia, who purchased it at auction said today. Dr. Rosenbach, who paid £15,400 (roughly $77,000) for Alice's adventures, added:

"I have already had many proposals from the other side by telephone and also cable, but I pledged my word not to make any move until I return from the Continent in a fortnight."

The directors of the British Museum will meet this afternoon to determine the possibilities of raising sufficient money to accept Dr. Rosenbach's suggestion that he would permit the British nation to have the manuscript at the price he paid for it.

LAST-MINUTE ROW STOPS GERMAN HOP

PILOT DREADS WEATHER, RESIGNS

DUBLIN, April 4.—(AP)—Their ardor undampened by continued rainfall, the German trans-Atlantic flight aspirants today prepared an artificial runway to enable their heavily-laden plane to take the air at Baldonnel airdrome.

Several hundred old railroad ties were brought to the airdrome to extend the runway. Baron von Huenefeld, sponsor of the flight, hoped that this extended runway would give the Bremen sufficient headway to enable it to rise without hitting the ground that has been softened by the rain.

Capt. Herman Koehl, pilot, and the Baron maintained silence as to their plans and the rumor persisted that Col. Fitzmaurice, head of the Free State air force, would act as relief pilot in place of Arthur Spindler. It was reported that Herr Klose, who preceded the Bremen to Baldonnel and has since returned to Berlin, was attempting to get Baron von Huenefeld's backers to approve of this.

The story was that Spindler had quit after a row last Thursday morning. The Bremen was being fueled on the runway for the hop and Spindler said that the weather was not suitable. The Baron reminded him that Capt. Koehl was in command and the conversation became heated, with the result that Spindler started for Berlin instead of New York.

All Will Learns Of Cereals Is Boxes

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., April 4.—What a place this is. The home of the sensitive stomach. It's the rendezvous of everybody with an ailment between the chin and the hip. Everybody is getting along fine, cheerful and just saturated with sanitarium scandal. Cure you by giving you everything to eat but food. These patients' idea of a wild party is to get their hands on two slices of bacon or just an old lamb chop bone. Showed me through the breakfast food factories, and I thought here is where I find out something about what it is. They showed be how the boxes were made and how they shipped them out. In fact everything but. So I leave here just as ignorant as the other one hundred and ten million. But they can sure overhaul a stomach that's been missing. Yours,

STEEPLE CLOCK FALLS ON FIREMAN

WORKING ON ROOF

When firemen were on the roof of the Holy Name Roman Catholic Church, Duquesne, battling a fire raging in the steeple, a dummy clock fell 30 feet from its socket and struck Elmer Wolfe on the head. Although his helmet partly broke the force of the blow, he was rendered unconscious and was saved from sliding down the roof and falling off by a comrade, Thomas Robinson, who caught and held him until he regained his senses. Fire in the steeple was caused by lightning. All four clocks in the steeple toppled out.

BEER SEIZED AT ICE COMPANY PLANT

A freight car containing 140 barrels of beer was being unloaded, prohibition agents declare, when they raided the Standard Ice Company's plant, 1362 River avenue, North Side, yesterday afternoon. Seven men said to have been laboriously unloading the beer were arrested. They gave their names as Albert Miller, 52; George Lyons, 59; Fred Grater, 56; Joseph Katelon, 34; Wilhelm Muschiak, 55; Jerry Bowser, 66, and Pete Antonio, 56.

"Salt pork" was billed on the side of the car. The beer tested 3.94 per cent, according to the agents. The value of the seizure was placed at $8,000.

In a raid on a saloon at 704 Wylie avenue the agents reported confiscating six barrels of beer and two barrels of whisky. Harry Martorella, reputed proprietor, was arrested.

Besides meats the butcher shop of Henry Mihn, of 3009 Frankstown avenue, also offered moonshine, the agents say. Mihn was arrested when, the raiders declare, they discovered a 15-gallon keg of moonshine in the place.

CLOSING SOUTH SIDE STREETS HITS SNAG

Plans to vacate portions of South Side streets from South Twelfth to South Thirty-fifth Streets have been held up by Council pending a report from the city Law Department. The delay was taken when 17 vacating ordinances were considered by the councilmanic public service and surveys' committee, Daniel Winters demanding, "Are they going to vacate the entire South Side?" The vacations are said to be proposed to carry out a 27-year-old agreement with the Pittsburgh, Virginia and Charleston Railway Company.

CONFESSES KILLING GIRL

DEATH MOTOR DRIVER AFRAID TO TELL

International News Service.

CLEVELAND, April 4.—A case, which for several days had threatened to become one of Cuyahoga county's deepest mysteries, today had been solved through the confession of Roy Grootegoed, 20, landscape gardener.

Grootegoed, according to County Detective Gideon Rabshaw, admitted that his car struck Alice Leonard, 15, Mayfield Heights schoolgirl, whose body was found late Monday after she had been missing from home since January 28, last.

For a time it was thought Alice had been attacked and thrown from an automobile. Her skull had been fractured. After questioning Grootegoed at length, Rabshaw declared he was convinced the youth had told a straightforward story, however. Grootegoed endeavored to explain his two months' silence by saying he was "too scared to tell anyone about the accident." He admitted that he carried the girl's body to a field near Mayfield Heights School after his auto had knocked her down and dragged her 200 feet.

No specific charge had been placed against Grootegoed this morning.

ALICE LEONARD

After a three-month search, Cleveland police found the body of Alice Leonard, 15-year-old school girl who disappeared on her way to a school basketball game. At the height of the mystery, Ray Grootgoed, 20, a truck driver, confessed that he had struck the girl in his car and in his fright carried her body to the nearby field and fled. She was not dead then, he says, and perhaps died of cold and exposure.

CAR LINE VETO OVERRULED

Three ordinances providing for the laying of a single track street car loop system in the borough of East Pittsburgh have been passed by the borough council over the veto of Burgess James Beech. The burgess averred the system would allow the Pittsburgh Railways Company to lay tracks on every outlet to the borough except one alley and that the streets belong to the citizens who should be given more consideration. Other members of council are of the belief that the ordinance will benefit the residents by relieving traffic congestion.

POLICE RAIDERS ARREST 24

Raids on an alleged one-man club and on a speakeasy in East Liberty early today resulted in arrests of 24 men, with confiscation of moonshine and gambling apparatus. Police under Lieuts. Elias Wentzel and Nuncie Marino visited a club at 7131 Frankstown avenue, arresting "Buck Gross," 30, of 1015 Hale street, and a resort at 7217 Hamilton avenue, where Frank Campone, 22, and M. J. Homan, 52, were arrested. The men were charged with keeping a disorderly house.

Uses Safety Pin As Tooth Pick; Gulps It

Frank Flowers, 30, desertion and non-support prisoner, fell asleep while picking his teeth with a safety pin and swallowed the pin.

He awoke in much pain and Dr. Ellis, jail physician, was summoned. An order of court was obtained for special medical treatment. An X-ray showed the pin was in the prisoner's stomach—closed.

FRANKSTOWN'S RAIDED PAY

Fines and forfeits totaling $325 resulted from three raids last night by police in the Frankstown avenue district. "Buck" Gross, proprietor of a club at 7131 Frankstown avenue, paid $100 in Frankstown Avenue Police Court, five visitors, $2 each, and six others forfeited $15. Roy Bezelque, 55, restaurant-keeper at 6481 Frankstown avenue, paid a $25 fine and Frank Campone, 22, manager of a saloon at 7217 Hamilton avenue, paid $100.

Libels in divorce have been filed in Common Pleas Court as follows: Walter Pauling, 1827 Webster avenue, against Mary Pauling, desertion; Loretta M. Campbell, 6370 Aurelia street, against Carl E. Campbell, cruel and barbarous treatment; Arvin R. Cole, 1306 Brighton road, against Matilda M. Cole, infidelity.

Langley's Clean Up Starts

WOMAN FOUND STARVING, ILL BEYOND AID, DIES

LAST-MINUTE PREPARATIONS

With a blare of trumpets and a rattle of rakes, students of Langley High School started their end of the city-wide "Clean Up, Paint Up, Plant Up" campaign by staging a colorful parade. Here are Wilda Biggard, Margaret Johnston and Catherine Criss giving one of the parade automobiles its gala dress.

NECESSARY IMPLEMENTS

A rake, a broom, a mop, a brush and a pail—in the capable hands of Elizabeth Young, Betty Gundelfinger and Gretchen Welsh. That covers the "Clean Up" division pretty well. The parade, organized by Miss Irene Williams, in charge of student activities, traversed the streets of Sheraden for nearly an hour.

SCHOOL GROUPS REPRESENTED

Here is the student council banner, proudly borne by Lucy Bennett and Janet Slease. Behind them are Lucille Vetter, Jane Hopkins, Betty Libby and Lillian Oliver. Other "floats" that enlivened the parade, led by the school band, were those of the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Senior Dramatics, Senior Leaders and Athletic Club.

PLANTING UP

Charlotte Groh and Margaret Horm give a practical demonstration of how the "Plant Up" angle should be worked. Overalls are part of the equipment. Miss Groh says that anyone with her name should know how to make things grow.

Why We Behave Like Human Beings

by George A. Dorsey, Ph.D., LL.D.

'Square Chin' May Be a Weak Sister and Hen-Pecked

Character, Reputation and Personality Defined in Their Relations to Human Behavior

By Army tests in war-time America was determined to be a nation of morons, but the conclusions were derived from faulty tests, Dr. Dorsey made plain in yesterday's chapter of "Why We Behave Like Human Beings," in The Sun-Telegraph. By such tests Columbus couldn't qualify for a lowly post in a modern navy.

Why Women Kiss Some Men

CHAPTER XLIX.

DURING the month of August, 1914, a great nation lost its character but gained a reputation.

Character seems to be an essence, a spirit, a core, a stuff, that defies analysis: like Consciousness or Unconscious Mind. "If I could only get at his 'true character,'" we say, as though it were something quite beyond range of investigation. Or at least beyond anyone but a psycho-analyst: he might be able to "draw it out."

What do we do with a bottle that "looks like gin but may be poison?" Try it, or have a friend try it, or send it to a chemical laboratory. Are there laboratories where character may be analyzed? There are: palmists, phrenologists, handwriting experts, Freudists, mind-readers, clairvoyants, Swamis, mystics and charlatans—ignorant and honest or wise and dishonest. They all "read" character.

GEORGE A. DORSEY

While they are in the inner shrine with someone's "true character" or "inner self," let us not forget that human beings do not come like buttons from a mold, but in individual packages. There is probably a prize in every package, if we only looked for it or knew how to find it. These packages come with a limited repertoire of habits, an unlimited amount of emotion, and an enormous capacity to learn.

Further, they are keen to learn; their very bodies itch for action—they could not have peopled the earth and enslaved nature otherwise.

Further, these little packages, in the natural process of becoming untied and budding like a rose or a sunflower as is their bent, become more and more tied up. With the result that by the time one is old enough to vote—whether it has learned what the ballot means or not—it belongs to mother's church and father's party, and wears the clothes, thinks the thoughts, and swears by the flag the family and the community have wished on it.

In short, its "character" may be nil, its reputation fine. But it is a person and is so recognized by law. It has a personality. It is a going concern. Where and how fast and how long it goes, and when it will throw a fit or jump the track or explode, depend . . . . Fill in the details yourself.

We do, every day: Shall I marry her? Does he love me? Shall we invite them? Shall I accept his invitation? Shall we let her go to the dance with him? Dare I make the venture? Is he fit for our son to play with? Is his note good? Shall I employ him? Is she a good cook? Is he an honest chauffeur? Would you, if you were I?

How do we answer these questions? Call in a palmist? Some do, or there would be no palmists. But most of us answer them as we answer other questions, such as: Wonder if I dare eat that pie? Is it a real ruby? Is this a good lipstick? Shall I buy Q. E. D. or sell P. D. Q.? Shall we send Willie to Brown or to Green? Is this road safe? Shall we go to the movies or to church? Is the beer all gone? Shall we quit now or play till morning? Is this suit good enough? Shall I endow a charity now or steal another million?

We make mistakes. With original sin loose in the world, we must. We make mistakes in persons and things. "She is not what I thought she was:" which is correct enough, for having met you she is to that extent different. "That is not what I thought I bought:" true again: but it is what you were sold.

We learn by our experience. And some learn fast and with profit, and others learn as little as possible. It all depends.

But if we were "good" children and learned to jump at father's orders, and to "respect" his authoritative manner and commanding ways and learned to smile and swallow "like a good little man" the nasty medicine the doctor leaves for poor little sick boys, we are likely later to listen with open mouth to the man who pounds the platform or the pulpit or fills the room with his magnetic personality! But if father was a little runt without voice or influence in family affairs, we are likely to overlook the personality in a shrimp.

A "pleasing," "thrilling," "absorbing" personality is one we like to touch. Men shake their hands. Women kiss them. When "I instinctively like that person" the instinct that is talking is an unanalyzed sexual or emotional slant based on early habits of love. A "lovable" personality within the same sex is possible because sharp leanings toward the other sex were not formed at the time sex matured. Co-education is sanitary education.

We jump at our personality conclusions. We know he cannot be this and she cannot be that. What we really know is that some personalities appeal to us, others do not. We can rarely give the real reason for our spontaneous judgments. Personalities are rather more complex than apples or motor cars.

The most "erect carriage" may be the greatest social scoundrel unhung. The "intelligent brow" may be housed under a dunce's cap. The "squarest chin" may be a weak sister and the most henpecked man in town. The "firm mouth" may hide a flabby body and a soft head.

Some things do show through; elation, despondency, etc. But the rosiest-cheeked apple may have a wormy heart. A woman with a homely face covers it with hat and veil or tresses, and sells herself on her form.

Pick 50 men at random from Fifth avenue. Take them to the Tombs, shave their heads and photograph them. Mix the photographs in with those of 50 inmates. Call in your mind-readers and character experts. How many will they pick out? As many as the law of chance allows them. Now take the 50 inmates, dress them in the hair and clothes of the new arrivals, and drop them along Fifth avenue. Call in your character experts. If they can pick these 50 "toughs" off Fifth avenue, they should report to the chief of police of New York or the Attorney General of the United States. Jobs await such men.

People who read character from hands like to hold hands; and vice versa. If they pay to have their hands held they do not lose their personality, only their money.

John Stuart Mill speaks of an event which took place on Calvary: "The man who left on the memory of those who witnessed His life and conversation such an impression of His moral grandeur that 18 subsequent centuries have done homage to Him as the Almighty in person, was ignominiously put to death. As what? As a blasphemer!"

MELLON TAKES UP CONTESTS

Legislative contests are included in the list of subjects being discussed by Republican State Chairman W. L. Mellon and his political associates at informal conferences today. Mr. Mellon arrived home late last night and was in his office today for the first time in several weeks.

Neither the county nor city Republican chairmen are here to discuss the situation with him, the prevailing harmony causing a number of political leaders to slip away on vacations. Senator James J. Coyne, city chairman, is in California and is not due back for several days. Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, county chairman, is in the East.

WRECK DELAYS P. R. R. TRAINS

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 4.—Twenty-four loaded coal cars were wrecked on the Pennsylvania Railroad at Van Dyke, 40 miles west of here early today, and as a result the main line of the railroad between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia was blocked for several hours. Cars were shattered and splintered and tons upon tons of coal were strewn over the rails.

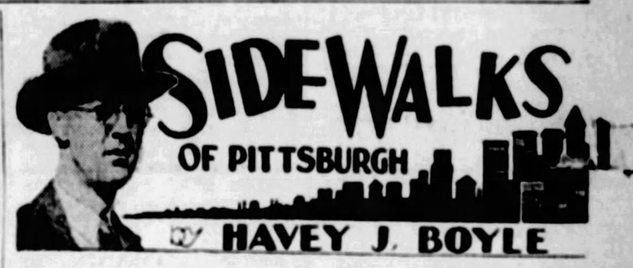
Many overnight passenger trains between Pittsburgh and New York and Philadelphia were delayed for more than an hour before they were rerouted by way of Lock Haven and Williamsport. This added several hours to their lateness in arriving in Pittsburgh and the two eastern cities.

WOMAN FOUND STARVING DIES

Found ill in her room in the rear of 208 Goodrich street yesterday, Mrs. Anna McKnight, 58, died four hours later in Allegheny General Hospital. Death was reported to the coroner as due to starvation and bronchial pneumonia.

Neighbors said the woman formerly had been an employe of the Rodgers Sand and Gravel Company, working as a maid on the river boat Rebecca, but that lately she had remained in her room, avoiding everyone and refusing aid. The Associated Charities is searching for relatives.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH



By HAVEY J. BOYLE

MY DEAR SIR: Your little article appearing in your column certainly brought back fond memories of the days when I was trying to become a big leaguer. Of course, I didn't succeed but I had the satisfaction of seeing many of my colleagues make the grade. Lobert, Knabe, Dawson, McKenna, Schultz, and a score or more of that famous Beltzhoover aggregation became conspicuous on the diamond. Once, we had a game at Blairsville ad Lobert and I went around to the homes of the players at 4:30 a. m. to rouse them to catch the 6 o'clock train to be on time for a double-header. Signed: Frank L. Duggan.

WELL, Frank didn't become a big leaguer in baseball, but he has become one of the village's most prominent citizens, serving, as near as we can make out, on eight different civic committees. And when he first tossed his Stetson into the political arena he came out with as nice a vote as you'd care to look at, considering it was his first attempt.

QUITE innocently recently we mentioned something about Leo Robin, a former reporter, who has got into the big stuff writing lyrics for musical comedies. No less than eight or nine letters were received as a result and we decided to close the books on the issue, but here comes a series of dispatches which show that interest is still running high:

Constant Reader says he saw Leo Robin at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of March 17 in the vicinity of Dutch Henry's. R. H. Smith, sheriff of Horgan county, writes: My posse has located Leo Robin in the fastness of Hardrock county. What is the reward? Another dispatch dated Weyer Springs, Mass., says: Leo Robin was recently a guest at the hotel here. Miss Bertha Bluestone writes to say she one time taught Leo Robin in school.

Of course, this is someone spoofing this writer. When a columnist stays on one subject, too long, the boys on the staff get together and send him so much stuff on the same subject the columnist decides to say no more about it.

WE ALWAYS felt sure it would not be long until various editors were clamoring for our stuff. Here comes a letter from Darrell Martin, editor of the magazine known as Ducks, dedicated to the proposition of making life worth while and real significant for the thousands of duckpin bowlers in our village. Mr. Martin craves a few words for his magazine. Of course, Mr. Lorimer, of a certain Saturday publication which reaches the customers on Thursday, had the first call, until Mr. Martin, also a local boy, wrote in. The article will be called: "Bowling—Its Spiritual Significance, with an Aside or So on the Metaphysical Speculations Aroused by a Split."

A GREAT practical lesson is learned from the sad case of the man who was arrested for eating peanuts in a street car and throwing the shells on the floor. The lesson is so practical that the wise boys in Fourth avenue, as soon as the news of the arrest came out, began a bull market in salted peanuts. At the same time, in this connection, watermelons fell off to almost nothing on the stock ticker.

EATING in public conveyances such as trains and street cars deserves a special eating place in the history of the human. There must be something in a ride on a train that promotes an appetite. Still, our observation never led us to believe that peanuts held a prominent place on the common carrier menu.

If memory serves, bananas seemed to be the favorite among the people who like to eat on trains. It has always struck us that a railroad company which offered a banana with every ticket would get a lot of business. The apple is the thing to eat while waiting in the station for a train, but the banana, seemingly, is the real thing once the train pulls out.

War Recovery in England

HOUSES built in England averaged 60,000 a year before the war; but indications are that in 1927 alone nearly 230,000 houses were constructed. This gives an idea of how rapid recovery from war has been.

JERRY The Epic of a Girl Who Had to Wait. by Elenore M. EHERIN

Home a Month and She Has Not Seen Saxon, He Phones But She Is Out

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Jerry King, good looking, charming and nineteen, falls in love with Saxon Rhodes, a young architect. Marza, her fascinating mother, warns her that idealists like Saxon make poor husbands. When he goes abroad to study, Jerry promises to wait for him. Jerry agrees to wait three years longer. She wonders whether Saxon loves her as completely as she loves him. Saxon's attention to Ora Pringle gives Jerry a pang of jealousy. They attend a week end party where things start to happen. She decides to give Saxon up. She discovers that Marza has another daughter of whose existence her husband had been ignorant. Marza tells Jerry that this sister of hers is dying and needs them both. Stephanie recovers and they go back home.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XL.

JERRY wound her arms about her hunched knees and shivered. Chilly at 7 o'clock these mornings. Fine to be the man of the family, but breakfast in bed when the sun comes up is nicer.

She gazed over to the bed adjoining her own where Stephanie was sleeping. Strange yet, having Stephanie here—having a sister. Strange yet good—good every way you thought of it.

"Good for me." Jerry turned to the hills. So many years she had saluted them on awakening. A ripple of gold lay on the waters, the white Campanile gleamed and pointed upward.

Long ago—oh, when Jerry was 18 and then 19, she used to tell herself with high, brave ignorance: "I ought to turn into a big, decent sort of person, looking at this each day."

Four years had frittered through her fingers while she marked time. Marked time waiting for her mate.

"I must be a terribly female thing by nature or I never could have sunk so deep in it," she now thought as she slowly poked one foot from under the blankets to the floor . . . and shivered mightily. Well—whether she liked the cold or the routine and ordered life she had to take it now. So that was good!

Had to take it or starve! Rents had come down. Their apartment was old, and so many new ones going up all about it. Less than $150 clear after interest and operating expenses were paid. Someone had to hustle.

"Especially since we like strawberries and cream, thin bacon and fresh eggs!" She went padding to the kitchen and whistled as she cooked breakfast.

She did this each morning, bringing a tray to Stephanie's bed, summoning Marza with an impudent: "Get your carcass in here, ole dear. You're not the baby any more!"

She plunged with a brazen gaiety into the new job, taking a Calvinistic pleasure in the rigorous discipline.

Each morning as she went down the hall she paused before the poinsettias. They lasted bitterly long. She fingered them and reminded herself in a kind of childish ritual: "I'm out on my own now! Got to be sufficient to myself—utterly!

"No woman who wants to hold a man can afford to lose herself.

"That's Marza's supremacy. She never merged her identity with another's. She kept herself to herself. And so she keeps others to her.

"What man wants a pale shadow of his own thoughts? A synthetic distillation of his own emotions? That's what the average wife becomes—a shadow, and that's what she gives—no wonder husbands are bored! There are mirrors when one wants a reflection."

She developed an elaborate philosophy of independence. And was appalled that it did not suffice nor soothe her.

But she was determined that no one should guess her insane persistent yearning for him—the want that made her start inwardly at the mention of his name.

Above all, Saxon should not see her wilt. He would never find her reproaching him with that execrable feminine: "You took all I had! See how you've hurt me!"

No—she'd played the game and lost. Her fault as much as his, perhaps. Anyway, she'd lost. And no one should see her whimper.

So she wrote breezy answers to his letters. If she had been taunting with a gay kid sweetness before, she would be madly, thrillingly audacious now.

And she said of the poinsettias: "Saxon, ole darling, you puzzled and wondered what you should send, being as we twain are one no more, didn't you? They are brazen creatures, these gaudy flowers, like the hussy who received them. And they've a flaunting way of saying: Fare thee well, ole dear, and if forever, then forever fare thee well. That's always a rather sad message, I suppose, but they were high, dear years we had, weren't they? Perhaps we won't either of us ever know such a fine, gorgeous sweetness again. I'm an awfully greedy person and hope. Yet if there come another time, it won't be the same time. I'm glad about it—clean glad. And as you've often remarked, why belittle an emotion because it doesn't remain the same in 1929 as it was in 1925. I better stop or I may wax pollyanish—

"This job isn't so bad. I spent all today with a funny little German who imports from God knows where some very fine etchings. Erskine sent me down to buy the best of them. I had a fine time.

"Erskine has landed the job of decorating the Wilsons new place. It's on Broadway and five stories high. Have you seen it? What a view! I'll have a hand in the color schemes. It will be exciting, as they've no end of money and like to spend it."

She overdid it.

"What of you and Saxon?" said Marza one night as Jerry waited for Hugh Hammond.

"Nothing," said Jerry, putting her hands on her shadowy hips and giving Marza an impudent wink. "Nothing of it! Did you fear there might me?"

They were home a month. She hadn't seen him. Twice on his hurried trips from Los Angeles he had 'phoned. She had not been home.

Now—just as Hugh, very blond very cultured and smiling, reached the hall, the 'phone rang.

It was Saxon: "Hello—I'm coming up . . . caught you home at last."

"Oh, why didn't you let me know? I've got a date."

"Break it." With a cool possessive air.

"If you'd given me half a chance, I would."

"Well—for heaven's sake, Jerry, it's five months since I've seen you. Can't you break a date?"

"I'll come back early. I'll be here at 11. Come then."

"Too late! I've got to catch the 8 o'clock train back in the morning. Must be a pretty heavy date if it's so impossible to break it."

"Don't be snooty! I can't very well break a date when the person is standing here in the hall waiting and we've got tickets for the theater."

"As you please! Goodby!"

She felt assaulted—burning—weak. She stood at the 'phone biting her lips—fighting desperately against the impulse to fling herself furiously against Hugh Hammond.

She went to the theater and was utterly miserable. She kept going over that 'phone conversation and not hearing a line of the play.

She told herself angrily: "Pretty high-hatty—pretty damn high-hatty!"

The next day she got a rather pensive note: "Sorry I was so rough, but I did want to see you and I can't quite figure your attitude. You remember I told you about the Pennings' new place and that I could land the job for you?

"Well, that won't be finished for some time . . . but they want some drapes and other things for their house in town. Will you go there today and look the place over? I'm enclosing a card. There may not be anyone there. But the maids will take you through. Better luck next time, I hope. I'm terribly disappointed."

Mary Eunice Pennings received Jerry. She was tall—but her slender frame made her very willowy. Yes—she was appealing with that soft brown hair and shadowed blue eyes. She had charm.

She said very pleasantly: "You're Miss King—an artist friend of Saxon's. Well, let's have a look around. We want the mantel changed for one thing. I'd like a first-rate mural out here in the hall . . .

"And now in here—"

They were in the living room. It looked on the street. A machine was slowing at the curb. Someone getting out—Saxon.

For a wild moment the room and Jerry's heart blazed. Oh—calling for her. Delayed in town and following her out here.

Then she noticed Mary Eunice also gazing from the window. And heard Mary Eunice saying: "Well—look about. You can't get any suggestions from me. Make your survey—and let me hear from you Monday. I won't be here over the week-end . . ."

He was coming up the steps—sleek—mirthful. Now his hat was off and the thick tan hair lifted in the breeze.

Jerry moved into the shadows. She heard Mary Eunice opening the door; heard her husky "Hello, dear!"

They went with a little run down the steps. Off for the week-end together.

CHAPTER XLI.

THE clock on the mantel rang a chimes. Jerry counted—5:30. Well, he hadn't guessed she was here this late. Or he'd never have come up the steps, jauntily, like that. He'd not have come here at all.

She stood gazing in the mirror in a kind of desolation. Gradually her face lost its familiar aspect and she could survey it as a stranger.

The eyes confronted her with soft violent flames and the mouth, sculptured ardently with song and passion challenged.

She burned with these black insinuations. Her thoughts flew after him. They caught him by the shoulders and scathingly denounced him. Oh, the traitor! Giving up fine and holy flower for common grass like this.

How mirthful he looked; how chuckling when his hat came off, and he said some laughing thing to Mary Pennings. The way he looked that February four years ago at Del Monte when he stood with tanned, happy face and caught the kiss she blew to him.

Lifting her on wings of ecstasy; flushing her to the inmost heart with a love of him. Hers then.

Why had this beauty vanished? Why had she not bound him to her irrevocably!

Love's Embers — Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

Mary Harrison Pressed by the Strange Young Sheik

LILLIAN and I were standing a little apart from the rest of the group on the veranda as Noel Veritzen made his gallant and placating little speech to Eleanor Lincoln. That she shared my astonishment in the sudden change in the young violinist's demeanor I knew when she spoke to me in a queer monotonous jargon inaudible to anyone save the person in whose ear she is speaking. She has perfected the feat so that no one casually observing her can detect any movement of her lips, for she omits labials, counting on the quickness of ear and perception of her listener to catch her meaning. And, of course, there are but few people to whom she speaks in the fashion which she learned during her secret service days.

"Mary's upset the lentils at last," she said, her keen eyes roving from Noel's expressive face apparently rapt in attention to Miss Lincoln, to that of Mary Harrison, lifted provocatively to that of young Mr. Jackson. "I thought she would when you sent her into the hall. Noel's mad clear through. Do you hear that spiel of his about now being master of his time? That means he's slipped his leash, and, believe me, it's going to be some time before Mary can whistle him back again. There's a bit of Phil's arrogance hidden deep in that gentle boy."

I shifted my position so that no one save Lillian could see my lips, for I am not as adept in noiseless conversation as she is.

"Mary doesn't appear to be either penitent or worried just now," I said.

"She's a good actress," Lillian retorted, "and besides she's well provided for just now. Your friend, Mr. Jackson, is some sheik. He sure knows his vegetables."

I shared her opinion as to the attractiveness of young Mr. Jackson, who evidently was making some request of Mary which the girl was undecided about granting.

"I don't know," she was saying a bit nervously. "I'd love to go, but I have a good deal of studying on hand because of my long illness, and then Aunt Madge is a rather strict chaperon, you know. But I'll find out and let you know."

"Please make haste in your search," the young man urged, "for I shall be suspended over a gridiron until I find out."

Mary laughed merrily at his extravagance.

"I'll do my best," she said. "I should hate to think of your being slowly roasted."

"I could endure anything," he began, then broke off with another query.

"Would it do any good if I made my plea to your aunt myself? She looks very kind and amiable."

"Oh! No! No!" Mary exclaimed nervously. "You must not say anything to her at all until I tell you to. That would spoil everything."

Lillian and I had moved closer to them and their colloquy was distinctly audible to us. I guessed that young Mr. Jackson meant me to hear his pleas, but, realizing that Mary had dragged my name in only as camouflage, I took pains not to look toward him, and Miss Lincoln just then announcing her readiness to depart, he docilely accompanied her.

I knew of course that it was not my permission for an outing with young Jackson which was troubling Mary's mind. She could settle herself to nothing, nor could she decide any question until she found out what would be Philip Veritzen's reaction to her planned confession of her escapade as the masked dancer.

MUSIC

MENDELSSOHN CHOIR

Carnegie Music Hall

The Mendelssohn Choir sang its last concert for the season in Carnegie Music Hall last night before a shamefully small audience. I am convinced that if the public that hears Handel's Messiah from year to year should but come oftener to the less popular oratorios, it would in time learn to love them as well as the more familiar tunes. John Sebastian Bach's Passion music according to St. Matthew, first given by the choir last Eastertime, was repeated last evening.

One might search through all music and never find more poignant drama nor greater religious music for Holy Week than the Bach oratorio. The arrangement used by Mr. Lunt is, I still feel, heavy with chorales, and loses much of its musical force by omitting important choruses and soli. This year's performance was less deadly than before, for the choir sang with great assurance and more vigor. The soprano voices in pianissimo during the chorale "O Blessed Jesus" was as fine singing as we have heard from them.

The solo quartet, with the exception of Herbert Gould, basso-cantante, was the same as last year. Ethyl Hayden sang more beautifully than ever, if that were possible, for I distinctly remember the impression of her pure singing and her masterful style for Bach. Grace Leslie's contralto is a sombre organ well adapted to the tragic strains of "Golgotha". Arthur Kraft again recounted the phrases of the evangelist with fine rhythmic accent; his betrayal scene was almost operatic in its reality. A. W. Pardew and George Patterson sang minor parts with sincerity, and Earl Mitchell played very musical accompaniments.

Ernest Lunt continues to offer Pittsburgh the finest in choral music. Next season he promises us Cesar Franck's Beatitudes and Wolf-Ferrari's La Vita Nuova, two great modern works that students and public can not afford to overlook.

Soon Destroys the Hair

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

Grouchiness a Sign Your Are Not Well; Eradicate It

LAMARTINE said, "Joyousness is nature's garb of health."

This is, indeed, a solemn truth. When perfect health of body exists you are likely to find associated with it sweetness of spirit and joyousness of mind.

DR. COPELAND

A cross child is almost always a tired or sick child. A peevish, irritable, ugly man is likely to be a worn-out or sick man. Joyousness, on the contrary, is an evidence of health.

Anger, especially uncontrolled anger, is bad for the health. Almost as quickly as anything can do it, anger will derange the digestion, produce a headache and give you a feeling of real illness.

Mind and body are so intimately related that it is hard to tell which comes first—a sick body or a disturbed mind. If there are abounding health and perfect digestion, it is very certain the mind will be at rest and laughter will be near the surface.

Likewise, if the mind is at peace, the functions of the body are carried on with little disturbance. Fear, remorse, hatred, anger—these will disturb the whole body.

I have no doubt we need the trials and unpleasant experiences of life to develop character. But it would be a wonderful world, for a time anyhow, if weather were perfect, business good and life going by like a song. Joyousness would reign supreme.

I wonder if we would tire of such an existence? Personally, I love the seasons, but there is no doubt that the even climate of a state like California is wonderfully appealing.

But when Lamartine talked about "joyousness," it is not probable that he had giggling idiocy in mind. He referred, I assume, to that lightness of spirit that accompanies duty well done, every task honestly attended to, and a full day's work accomplished.

There is a joyousness in doing every task as well as you know how. Such an attitude of mind rests the tired muscles, takes the kinks out and in every way lightens the burdens of life.

It makes no difference which comes first—health or joyousness—does it? But who can doubt that they are twin sisters—peace of mind and soundness of body?

When I meet a grouchy, ill-tempered, ugly man, I want to look at his teeth and tonsils, to inquire into his eating habits and to find out if his elimination is normal. Nine times out of ten you will find that such a man has something wrong with his physical system.

But when a whistling boy comes tearing down the street, a broad grin on his face, you can wager that he is in vigorous health. Joyousness is nature's garb of health.

Cultivate cheerfulness, but guarantee it by having a vigorous, normal body.

Fishin' Smile Makes Boy of Man—Fay King

By FAY KING

I NEVER judge a man until I have seen a picture of him taken on a fishing trip!

It is only then you may discover that the sourest old grouch is really a beaming schoolboy at heart!

Thin-lipped men with steely gimlet eyes can be changed into the gentlest, hazel-eyed creatures with the kindest grins you'd wish to see. One actually begins to wonder how anyone with such a kind face could be so cruel as to catch that poor dear little fish he holds in such glee and glory!

True equality seems to exist on fishing trips.

Millionaire or guide—you can't tell one from the other!

One fellow may catch a fish the size of a canoe, while the other fellow catches one no bigger than a minnow, but their expression of pride and joy is exactly the same, and not a speck of envy!

A whale or a sardine seems to carry the same kick where the camera is concerned.

Pictures of great men in their hour of greatest honor never wear the expression of delight that these same men can wear while posing with a catch of bass or trout!

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

MAN'S BEAUTY-COMPLEX

ARE men becoming beauty-conscious? Do some of them use cosmetics, powder their noses on the sly and have their hair marcelled?

They are—and they DO, say the French cosmetic makers. Heaven defend us!

* * *

Personally, I have never met a man who did not think that, if he slicked back his hair, shaved his chin and wore a collar high enough to hide his Adam's apple, he was sufficiently beautiful to be loved by any woman.

HELEN ROWLAND

If he refuses one potato or one onion, the average man feels that he is being almost TOO meticulous in his concession to aesthetic ideals.

* * *

He blushes apologetically when he has a weakness for wild neckties or gaudy hat-bands; and is positively stocking-conscious, when he puts on his knickers and his giddy golf-hose.

* * *

My own husband has his nice mop of brown hair cut so close that he looks almost bald over the ears. That is a "MARRIED MAN'S hair-cut"—something that will LAST! Only sheiks, college boys and men in love bother to cultivate the long top-locks, or indulge in pomade.

* * *

After marriage, most men go in for substantial dark clothes, roomy shoes, and comfortable soft collars. What do they care for sex appeal? But no wife need take this as a sign that her husband no longer loves her. Wait until he reverts to type, and blossoms out in vanilla-colored suits and gay haberdashery again. As long as he goes around in a shiny coat, keeps his "convict-cut" and smokes a smelly pipe, he is not thinking about any OTHER woman.

* * *

It is hard to visualize any he-man carrying a vanity case and a lipstick. But if man ever DOES let himself become "beauty-conscious" he should be examined by an alienist!

* * *

But have no fear! The average man will always be satisfied with himself, just as Nature made him. He has no doubts about whether the women love him. All his doubts are concerned with whether or not he wants to LET them love him.

* * *

It never occurs to him to wonder if he would be more fascinating, if he rouged his knees and soaked himself in highly scented toilet water. MORE fascinating! Whaddye mean "more" fascinating?

* * *

A few men have already succumbed to the cult for slenderness, and are persecuting themselves with diet and exercise for the sake of their waistlines. But most of them are still wisely content, to let the WOMEN do the "suffering."

* * *

The only exclusive RIGHT a man has left is the right to be as comfortable, as plain, as fat and as bald as he likes! Let him hold onto it! It is the last symbol of his SUPERIORITY!

For the Lovelorn -:- By ELEANOR GALE

Patsy

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a constant reader of your column, and have come to you for advice, here is my problem: I am very much in love with a boy whom I know loves me, but he is two years younger than I. Do you think he is too young for me?

"PATSY."

I couldn't answer your question, my dear, without knowing more about you and the boy. If you are 18 and he 16, he is too young for you, but if you are 28 and he 26, the difference in viewpoint between you is not so great. The years are the same, but the character has developed so that the man and girl seem nearer of an age.

Curly Head

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have never written to you before, but have been following your wonderful writeups in the paper each evening. Miss Gale, I am a boy of 22 and going with a girl 18 years old. Now, Miss Gale, every time I go to see this girl we either quarrel or fight. I love this girl dearly and get along with her mother and father, who treat me very nice. Do you think I should keep company with this girl, who tries to make me jealous? I am going to follow your advice.

CURLY HEAD.

Have a heart-to-heart talk with this girl, Curly Head, and tell her how much you dislike this quarreling, and see if you can't come to some understanding.

Worried Girl

DEAR MISS GALE:

Perhaps you did not receive my first letter, which I wrote some two months ago, so I will write it you again. Miss is a disastrous proposition. My father and mother are not poor, nor are they rich. But mother loves society and lots of money. Recently she induced father to invest some money in a fake oil stock and he lost nearly $1,800. Mother had met a young man of wealth before that and I, she insists, should marry him. I don't love him. Now here's my story: I graduated from high school and went to business college, and for the past three years have worked in the office of a large concern in the city as a secretary. I have supported myself entirely. I am 22. I am in love with a young man who is not very well-to-do. He has a good job and a small bank account, and also his own home, which his uncle left him. It's old-fashioned, but it's a dream, surrounded by about 16 acres. He has proposed and I accepted, but mother objects and says she and Mr. Greene (I shall call him that) expect me to marry right after Easter. Dad hasn't a thing to say, but he doesn't want me to marry Mr. Greene if I don't love him. What shall I do, marry, so mother can have money, or for my own complete happiness.

"WORRIED GIRL."

Don't let anyone, even your own mother, induce you to marry a man you do not love, my dear. It is a monstrous thing to try to force a girl into such a marriage. You have far greater chances of happiness with the poorer man whom you really love.

Yielding is sometimes the best way of succeeding.—PROVERB.

VARIABLE conditions obtain on this day, according to the mutual and lunar aspects. While affairs may prove lively, a certain jeopardy attends the financial status. Diligence and perseverance should bring due returns, judging by the sextile figure of Luna to Saturn. The employment should be safeguarded.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of variable fortunes. While labor and diligence may be stabilized, employment should be safeguarded. Finances should be protected, speculation shunned and new projects cautiously managed.

YOU could never guess the speed of the K-4-S just from its size.

With all its more than 500,000 pounds of massiveness, it is by no means the heaviest, nor the biggest, locomotive on the Pennsylvania. But it has won its place as one of the swiftest, most reliable engines on the rails.

Built by the Pennsylvania to combine high speed with strength, the K-4-S has vast reserves of power . . . if need be, it has more power than 3,000 horses leaping as one at the driver's will.

While the passengers seated before snow-white tables in the diner relish choice food and subtle flavors, the K-4-S does a smooth seventy miles an hour—with a reserve of power which would enable the driver to raise the speed, if the rules of the road would permit, close to a hundred.

That's the reason why the Pennsylvania flyers, however they speed, never seem to strain.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 4 TWENTY-FIVE

CORSAIRS IN TEXAS FOR TWO SERIES

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.
Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 4.—A heavy shower descended on San Antonio this morning as the Pirates rode through town to their hotel after the long ride from Phoenix. Later the heavy clouds broke, indicating that an attempt at a ball game would be made. The Bushwhackers will play the San Antonio club of the Texas League today and tomorrow, weather permitting.

The Detroit team of the American League, which is in training at San Antonio, will be met Friday in Dallas. The Pirates played the Tigers two games in San Antonio last year and split even.

PLAYERS CENSURED

At 10 o'clock this morning Manager Bush called his players together and gave them a warm lecture. The five defeats handed the Pirates by the Cubs tended to anger the boss of the Pittsburgh club. Bush thinks there are certain regulars who are not taking their work seriously enough and he made known his convictions at the meeting. Donie forbade anybody to leave the hotel shortly after the arrival until the meeting was over. Apparently he thinks the slump of his club is getting close to a serious pass and he wants to caution his players in time.

The Cubs not only outplayed the Pirates, they seemed to outfight our boys. While it is true that Joe

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 4.—Bridge was the principal diversion of the Pirates on the long journey from Phoenix to San Antonio. All of yesterday and the bigger part of the past two nights were spent on the Pullmans on this long jaunt.

CHARLIE WALSH, the quiet boy from the sidewalks of New York is pronounced the best bridge performer in the squad, although the youth has yet to tangle with Chick Fraser, George Grantham and other sharks among the veterans. Walsh, however, has played with Joe Dawson and others who are liaison men between the regulars and those of rookie cast.

DICK BARTELL plays bridge with all the exuberance he puts into baseball. Daredevil Dick dives right in with confidence and he really flashes a good game. He is a fine little sportsman, too, but a stranger would get the wrong slant on him on hearing him pop off.

WALTER TAUSCHER was allowed to remain over in El Paso for a day. The uncle of the big recruit pitcher was at the station when the train rolled in. The athletes and his relatives were tickled to death when Manager Bush ad-

Miller Huggins.

Of course, it's nice to see or read about the home team winning, regardless of the kind of competition in which it is taking part, and even if it is only an exhibition game before the season opens, but it all means so little at time it happens, or as an indication of what is to follow during the pennant season itself, that it is absolutely no cause for worry.

WHAT if the Cubs did trounce the Bucs five times in succession and make a clean sweep of the series? That isn't going to cost Pittsburgh anything in the standing of the clubs after the regular season opens.

The only side to look at is that the five games against major league opposition served to give the Picaroons needed practice and brought them well along toward playing fitness.

It was generally conceded at the start that the Bucs were not in as good condition as the Bruins, but without considering that phase of the matter the outcome of the series is not to be taken as an indication of Pirate weakness.

You wouldn't think of trading the Pittsburgh team for the Chicago club, would you? Neither would anyone else.

As for the defeats, both last year and this spring the Yankees lost game after game in their Southern

If it isn't one thing, it's two, in the life and battles of this sturdy Pirate outfielder, who now is facing the fight of his life to retain his job as a regular in left field, with Adam Comorosky appearing to have the inside track for the assignment. But Barney goes on plugging along, hitting the old apple and making 'em like it. Back in his early days with the Bucs, he even had to try to plug the third base gap—and if there's one thing Barney isn't it's a third baseman. Such a life!

ABRAHAMS TO CAPTAIN BRITISH OLYMPIC TEAM

LONDON, April 4.—(AP.)—Harold M. Abrahams, former crack sprinter of Cambridge University, has been named captain of the British Olympic team, but will not compete in any of the events, the British Amateur Athletic Association announced today.

His work will be confined to managing and coaching competitors and it was believed that his knowledge of running and jumping would prove of great value to them.

It has been assumed for a long time that Abrahams was through with competitive athletics because of an injury to his leg and illness which followed and weakened him.

MAROONS AND N. Y. SIX IN FINAL

BOSTON, April 4.—(AP.)—The New York Rangers have won the right to enter the Stanley Cup finals by defeating the Boston Bruins here last night, 4 to 1, clinching the two game series for the leadership of the American section of the National Hockey League by the total score of 5 to 2. The first game, played in New York Sunday night, ended in a 1 to 1 tie.

Three of the Rangers' goals were scored in the final period after the Bruins had abandoned their defensive tactics in a desperate attempt to overcome the advantage which the New York team had gained on Bill Cook's goal in the second period.

Murdock added to the Rangers' lead when he outskated the Bruin forwards and slipped by their defense to cage the puck at the end of his brilliant dash. Five minutes later Bun Cook hooked a pass in center ice and lifted the puck past Winkler for the third Ranger score. The final Ranger goal was made by Boucher after a spectacular race in which he evaded the Bruin defensemen.

Oliver saved the Bruins from a shutout when he scored in the last minute of play during a scramble in front of the Rangers' net.

The lineup:

Bruins—1.		Rangers—4.
Winkler	G	Chabot
Shore	D	Abel
Hitchman	D	Johnson
Frederickson	C	F. Boucher
Oliver	W	W. Cook
Galbraith	W	F. Cook

Boston spares—Clapper, Cleghorn, Galing, Connor, Harrington.

New York spares—Gray, Boyd, Murdock, Thompson, Callighen, Bourgault.

Referees—Cooper Smeaton and George Malleson.

First period—No scoring. Penalties—Johnson, Frederickson.

Second period—Bill Cook, 18:54. Penalties—Galnor, Thompson, Johnson, Bun Cook.

Third period—Murdock, 11:23; Bun Cook, 16:18; Boucher, 17:32; Oliver, 18:39. Penalties—Bourgault, Abel, Galnor, Oliver.

COURSE TO BE IN EXCELLENT CONDITION FOR PLAY

An early start has been made in preparing the public golf course in Schenley Park for the 1928 season, and, as a result, the layout promises to be in fine fettle for the beginning of the campaign along about the first of May. Only another relapse on the part of Spring can force a postponement of the opening day. Officials in charge report that reservations for season permits and locker space are coming in slowly and that there still are many left. Last year 2,542 season permits and 6,414 in all were issued. This was a drop from the year before, and the 1926 totals were less than those of 1925. Season permits and locker space are obtainable at the Conservatory in Schenley Park. The former cost $3 and the latter $7 and the season permit holders are given preference in the distribution of lockers. Al McBride likely will be the pro again. He has not yet been reappointed, but this action is considered merely a formality. In the top picture Tommy Murray (left) and Steve McCarthy are shown fertilizing and seeding the fairways. Next Jack Kauffmann, brother of Carl F. Kauffmann, National public links champion, is operating the roller that follows the seeding process. Jack is head greenkeeper of the course. BUCS FARM BREWER, RELEASE T. WANER

By CHARLES J. DOYLE
Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 4.—Farm relief in baseball reached a new peak today when the Salisbury Club of the Piedmont League "farmed out" Parker Brewer, kid outfielder, to the Tyler team of the East Texas League.

Salisbury, owned by the Pittsburgh club, is a North Carolina entry in the Class C Piedmont League. The corn-fed East Texas League, of which Tyler is a member in good standing, is a Class D organization than which there is no league of lesser standing.

The remarkable deal involving the lad from the Oklahoma home of the famed Waner brothers was engineered by Sam Dreyfuss, treasurer of the Pittsburgh club and a rising magnate who knows more about the ramifications of the bush circuits than Judge Landis.

Brewer, it appears, signed a Salisbury contract when the Waner boys recommended him along with their cousin, Travia Waner, to the Pirates. The two strong-armed rookies made the entire training trip with the Pirates and when they reached San Antonio today they were advised of their baseball futures.

BREWER NEEDS SEASONING

Donie Bush and his aides decided that Brewer had some good baseball in him, but that Parker needed a lot of work in some circuits where they don't provide taxicabs and all that sort of thing. Salisbury evidently is filled up with outfielders, so it was arranged for the Piedmont farm to emulate their big brothers and make a farm out of Tyler, which can be found on your Rand-McNally if you study it a bit.

The cousin of the Waners also is an outfielder, but this 18-year-old lad did not blossom in the garden. Salisbury gives Travia his outright release, but Bush has advised Druggist Green of Ada, Okla., sponsor for the Waner act and their two young boys in this tale, to buy Travia a pitcher's toeplate and bring him to the slab.

In other words, Bush thinks the cousin has better chance to make it if he passes up the outfield for the pitching job. Both boys will leave the Pirates in San Antonio.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Hot Springs—Tommy Jones defeated Cuddy DeMarco, 10 rounds.

At St. Petersburg—Billy Algers won Dixie middleweight title by defeating Alex Simms, 10 rounds.

At Jacksonville—Joe Clancy knocked out Tom Norris, 6 rounds.

At Barcelona—Manuel Gonzales won Spanish bantamweight championship by defeating Murali on a foul, 5 rounds.

Pennsy League Heads Meet Tonight

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 4.—Baseball moguls of the Pennsylvania League will gather here this evening in an important business session, following which the personnel of the league will be announced.

With Greensburg, Vandergrift, New Kensington, Latrobe, Blairsville and Monessen already members and with the possibility of one other club entering the circuit, prospects for the coming season, which opens next month, are reported excellent. A schedule committee will be named and it will also be determined whether a split schedule will be played.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS by HARRY KECK SPORTS EDITOR

A FLOCK of boxers in New York were talking over their toughest fights the other day. When they were all through, one of them turned to Soldier Bartfield, the rough, tough, backhand punisher of a few years ago, and asked him to name his hardest scrap.

Without a moment's hesitation, the Soldier said it was a go with Lockport Jimmy Duffy.

"What? You fought Benny Leonard, Mike Gibbons, Harry Greb, Jack Britton, Mike O'Dowd and other good ones and you say Duffy gave you your hardest battle?" one of the youngsters piped in amazement. "How come?"

"Well, it was this way," responded the Soldier. "We both got thrown out of the ring and didn't get any dough."

THEN there's the story of Phil Goldstein's $25 breakfast. Phil boxed California Joe Gans at McKeesport last Thursday night and was scheduled to make 135 pounds. The day before the bout he scaled 135½ and he ate a light dinner and figured on drying out at least a pound overnight. In the morning, he ate two soft-boiled eggs and one piece of dry toast. When he scaled in at McKeesport he weighed 136 pounds and Gans took his weight forfeit of $25.

Phil is staying home over the holidays and then will return to New York for some more fights. He has a badly swollen left thumb which is undergoing treatment while he is loafing.

IN this column the other day I stated that young Junior Coen was the star of the Davis Cup trials at Augusta, winning all three of his singles matches, and added he hadn't been given a crack at Bill Tilden. In checking back, I find I was in error on the last part and hasten to correct it before somebody writes in. Coen did oppose Tilden, the day after the squad was picked, and extended Big Bill to five sets before going down to defeat. The

The VARSITY COLUMN by Jess M Carver

PETE McRAE, former Syracuse University All-America end and basketball and swimming star is in New York, on his way there, for a conference with Chick Meehan, head coach of football at New York University.

Pete has been acting in the capacity of a scout for Meehan ever since he left Syracuse, and it is Meehan's wish, so the understanding is, to have Pete as his regular assistant next fall, to replace Wild Joe Schwartzer.

McRae was also considered for the Geneva coaching job, vacated by Colonel Bo McMillin.

IT IS probable that New York U. will sign Jack Connors, star quarterback on last year's Violet eleven. Connors is very popular on the campus, and while Meehan's wishes will be respected in the matter, the New York athletic board is not favorably inclined towards bringing in another Syracuse man.

BOB KING of Stanford is almost certain to be the next Olympic high jumping champ. He is already on speaking terms with the cross bar at 6 feet 6 inches, and if he heeds the instructions and fulfills the hopes of his coach, Dink Templeton, he will do better.

The present crop of high jumpers in this merry land is a bumper one. There are over a dozen jumpers capable of doing 6 feet 2 inches or better, and stars of the magnitude of Burg of Chicago, Coggeshall of Southern California, Haggard of Texas and Osborn of the Illinois A. C. and the present Olympic champ, are all 6-4 and 5 men.

And in the East, there is a high school boy, Lovejoy, who has been hitting 6 feet 3 inches in indoor meets.

CARNEGIE TECH about ready for the opening of the spring football sessions, which will get under way next Tuesday in the Tartan Bowl.

The Skibos are particularly fortunate with regards to material, both veteran and sophmore, this year. There are a dozen or more left-overs from last year's varsity and a whole flock of up and coming freshman stars who will make formidable bids for varsity berths.

Bob Waddell, who does not begin to get the credit coming to him, will be in charge of the spring drills for the most part, though Advisory Coach Steffen may also be on the ground for a time.

WESTMINSTER'S champion tennis team, winner of the Tri-State Conference title for the past three years in succession, is reported to be about ready to start out on this spring's campaign.

The U. P. netters lost one match out of six last year, defeating all Conference opponents and losing only to Pitt's fine team. The same team will represent the Blue and White on the courts in the coming campaign, which is due to open shortly.

If the United Presbyterians win out in the Conference again this year, it will give Andy McDonald's school two Conference banners, the cage team having won the league basketball honors.

Pyle Fears For Safety

GLENRIO, N. M., April 4.—The field of runners remaining in C. C. Pyle's Los Angeles-to-New York Marathon race was reduced to 90 today when Carl Swenson, of Los Angeles, and Mike Gallena, of Palm Beach, Fla., dropped out, and Earl Dilks, of New Castle, Pa., disappeared. He failed to report at the control station last night and has not been seen nor heard from in the last 15 hours. Marathon officials fear for the New Castle runner's safety. The supposition is that he either became lost or collapsed and sought aid from a source other than the Pyle caravan.

In the first weeks of the race, Dilks maintained a place with the leaders. Recently, however, he appeared to weaken and had dropped well back in the field.

Ed Gardner, Seattle Negro, and Ollie Wantinnen, of New York, romped over the 44.1 miles from Tucumcari and reached the thirty-first control station here in a tie. Their time was 6 hours 5 minutes 15 seconds.

SUOMINEN BOLSTERS LEAD

Arne Suominen of Detroit bolstered his lead on first place by elapsed time since the start at Los Angeles by finishing third on yesterday's lap in 6:21:5. His total elapsed time is 184:10:20.

Gardner's time for the 1,114.7 miles from Los Angeles is 210:17:16. Wantinnen's 228:09:47.

Other early finishers in order were: Arthur Killingsworth, Lomis, Cal.; Andrew Payne, Claremor, Okla.; John Salo, Passaic, N. J.; Guisto Umek, Trieste, Italy, Louis Peralla, Albany, N. Y., and John Gober, Moberly, Mo.

The field was reduced to 91 today when Carl Swensen of Los Angeles and Mike Gallena of Palm Beach, Fla., dropped out. Swensen suffered stomach trouble and Gallena's withdrawal was due to a general breakdown.

W.-J. ARRANGES FLOOR CARD

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 4.—Eighteen games will be played by Washington and Jefferson College athletes during the basketball season of 1928-1929, the schedule made public today by Graduate Manager William G. Theurer discloses, this being almost a one-third increase over the number in which the Presidents participated during the past season.

As arranged, the schedule is one of the most attractive ever arranged for a floor team of the local school, as it opens with a preliminary trip to New York and Philadelphia and includes another jaunt into Central Pennsylvania, in addition to struggles with time-honored rivals of this district. The schedule follows:

December 29, Crescent A. C. at Brooklyn, N. Y.; December 31, City University of New York at New York; January 1, Temple University at Philadelphia; January 9, Bethany at Washington; January 12, Allegheny at Washington; January 16, Carnegie Tech at Washington; January 21, Bethany at Bethany, W. Va.; February 2, Juniata at Huntingdon, Pa.; February 8, Bucknell University at Lewisburg, Pa.; February 9, Penn State at State College, Pa.; February 13, Pitt at Pittsburgh; February 16, Westminster at Washington, Pa.; February 20, Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh; February 22, Allegheny at Meadville, Pa.; February 25, Westminster at New Wilmington, Pa.; February 27, West Virginia at Washington, Pa.; March 6, Pitt at Washington; March 9, West Virginia at Morgantown, W. TWO TOURNEYS CARDED ON INDOOR LINKS TODAY

The "Sanddiggers," a golf organization made up of Shriners, are listed to compete this evening in the inter-club tournament now in progress at the East Liberty indoor links, 6119 Broad street.

A tournament for individuals, too, is to open at the East Liberty course tonight. Play in the 36-hole qualifying round is to open this evening and will continue until April 11, when the different flights will start match play for prizes. The championship competition is to continue until April 30. The individual tourney, the first of its kind ever staged here, has proven surprisingly popular, hundreds of golfers throughout the Pittsburgh district having entered.

TIGERS' BASEBALL PARK LEASED FOR BOXING

DETROIT, April 4.—(AP.)—Plans for staging outdoor boxing contests and perhaps other open-air sporting events this summer at Navin Field, the American League baseball park, were announced today by Dick Dunn of the Olympia Sporting Club.

A lease has been completed whereby the club will be permitted to use the field and its large seating facilities when the Detroit American League team is on the road.

This arrangement, Dunn said, will provide ample facilities for championship boxing contests.

scores were 6-2, 6-3, 3-6, 6-8, 6-4.

IT'S been a long time since a youngster has broken into the professional boxing racket around here showing as much class as young Joe Louder exhibited in his debut against rugged Jack Uglo in the Motor Square ring last Monday night, and it is conceivable that if Louder continues to improve, does not get swell-headed over the good notices he has received and is properly handled he may go on to championship heights. He is cool and collected in the ring and does things with the touch of a master. He is fast, a splendid ring general and marvelously clever for a kid. He jabs accurately, crosses a right hard and fast to the spot, seldom misses and even picks his opponent's blows out of the air with his gloves. No one among the local talent since Johnny Ray was a youngster breaking in has made such a fine impression from a sheer boxing standpoint. The fans gave Louder a big hand, and he richly deserved it.

A FUNNY ONE cropped out during the hard-hitting Rudy Cedar-Jack Katkish return bout at Motor Square Monday night. Both men landed simultaneously with a thud that could be heard throughout the arena. One of the ringsiders missed the wallops and inquired:

"Which one landed that one?"

Milt Crandall, the dance impresario, sitting in the press row, turned around and replied:

"Neither—they both MISSED!"

WOMEN LINKS STARS TO MEET

PINEHURST, N. C., April 4.—(AP.)—Glenna Collett, Providence, R. I., gained the semi-final round in the woman's North and South championship with a 7 and 6 victory over Beatrice Gottlieb, New York.

Today in the round before the final, the former national women's champion will oppose Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City. Mrs. Hill advanced by putting out Helen Payson, Portland, Me., the Canadian women's champion, 5 and 3.

The possibility of another Collett-Van Wie duel loomed when Virginia Van Wie also won her way to the semi-finals. The Chicago girl put out Miss Louise Fordyce, of Youngstown, O., former North and South titleholder, 2 and 1.

Miss Van Wie is matched with Maureen Orcutt, Englewood (N. J.) metropolitan star. Miss Orcutt ousted Mrs. Ronald Barlow, Philadelphia, 8 and 6.

COAST CHAMPS LOSE OPENER

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.—(AP.)—The 1928 Pacific Coast League baseball season was ushered in with nearly 40,000 persons attending the four games.

In San Francisco, approximately 16,000 persons saw the Seals nose out Seattle, 3-2, in a hard 13-inning battle. Two favorites failed to come through, as Oakland, 1927 champion, bowed to Hollywood, 3-2, while Los Angeles drubbed Portland to the tune of 11 to 5. The Sacramento Senators opened their season impressively with a 6-3 victory over the San Francisco Missions. A crowd of about 10,000 was on hand in Sacramento, with 7,000 at Los Angeles and nearly 5,000 at Oakland.

More Records Fall In A. A. U. Meet

CHICAGO, April 4.—(AP.)—Faster and faster do America's aquatic marvels cut through the water.

Three world records, one of them 12 years old, were shattered at the National Amateur Athletic Union's indoor swimming championships last night. They were the 220-yard breaststroke, and 400 and 500 yards relay records for a 60-foot pool.

So far four world's records have been established at the championships which are being competed for this week, the 300 yards medley swim being broken Monday night.

Defending successfully his national title in the 220-yard breast stroke against a brilliant field, Walter Spence, stocky brunette of the Brooklyn Y. M. C. A. sped the distance in 2:42 3-5 seconds or 2 1-5 seconds faster than the previous record established by Eric Rademacher of Germany in 1926.

The other two world marks fell to the speedy Illinois Athletic Club team of Chicago, which is headed by Johnny Weismuller, America's middle distance champion. With Weismuller gaining a large lead in his laps, the I. A. C. team swam the 400 yards relay event in 3:32 3-5 seconds, taking the national championship from the Chicago Athletic Association. The old record was 3:35, made by the Cincinnati Central Y. M. C. A. team in 1925. Then, with J. M. Dithmer continuing another 100 yards, the team shattered the 500-yard relay record in 4:28 1-5 seconds. The old record was 4:40 3-5, which was made by the old I. A. C. team in 1916.

Another indoor champion was crowned when Harold (Dutch) Smith of the Los Angeles Athletic Club won the low springboard diving title, with 144.44 points. Farid Simaiki of the Ambassador Swimming Club, Los Angeles, the defending champion, was second and Herman Ringler of the Penn Athletic Club, Philadelphia, was fourth.

Three more championships, the 500-yard free style, the 150-yard backstroke and the high board fancy diving, will be decided tonight.

W. P. I. A. L. STARS TOP NORTHWESTERN RIVALS

SHARON, Pa., April 4.—The W. P. I. A. L. all-stars proved for the second time this year that they were too tough for the Northwestern scholastic stars last evening by defeating them, 40 to 34, in an exhibition game on the local court.

After the score was tied at the half, the W. P. I. A. L. boys, headed by Garda and Hendrickson of Beaver Falls, came back with a neat lead and were in front all the rest of the way.

Flaherty and Murphy of Sharon topped the Northwestern scoring, while Seifert of Erie played a nice game.

vised him to take a 12-hour leave of absence.

THE Buccos' brigade certainly has been smiled on by the elements in the past week. The last day in Oakland brought ideal conditions for baseball and the five fights with the Bears were staged under mid-summer sun. On the journey through Texas yesterday the sun was so warm that the players had to strip themselves of their coats and waistcoats to be comfortable.

THE Cubs are slated to play four games with the Kansas City Blues. Joe Cronin is likely to be in the Kansas City lineup. If the Bears swing into the championship season in the present stride they are apt to get off to a good start.

NEW YORK, April 4.—(AP.)—Harvard poloists won the championship of the Class B division of the National indoor polo tournament by defeating the One Hundred and First Cavalry of Brooklyn in the final, 11 goals to 4½.

SANDLOT BASEBALL by TOM BIRKS

OUT of those sandlot hotbeds of Oakland and Greenfield comes the news that Jimmy Smith, former big league star and good sport, will back the Cathedral Chapel outfit on the diamond this season. With the club shifted from the Frazier street grounds to the new Born city playground with a drawing capacity from Hazelwood, Greenfield and Oakland expect to have one of the finest semi-pro teams in the tri-state district.

Though Green Cab has called off activities for the season, the Chapel team intends to try for a berth in the County League. With Dinny Moore's outfit counted out, it is going to be hard to line up the sixth club.

Hank Daly announces that the Homewood County League club will be called the Homewood-Brushton baseball club. This change is due to the wonderful support that the sportsmen of Brushton are giving through that booster organization. Out of 500 boosters, half of them hail from the old league town and naturally they are entitled to some consideration.

The club will line up practically the same this season as last. Heinie Boli will captain the club, and the infield will have Ray Bond on the initial sack, Walter Waite will return to his first love and play second base, Harry Geisler, who has become very popular around the East End, will again play short, and Capt. Boli will be at third.

While the whole battery members have not been announced, it is assumed that with Isherwood, now with Charleroi and not available, the brunt of the pitching will fall on Zinn, with Big Bill Schultes behind the plate.

Manager Stinner kicks in with the news that the Duquesne Steel nine will be back in the semi-pro ranks again this season, despite COMPETITION will be resumed tonight in the duckpin tournament of the East Liberty Bowling Association on the Market Recreation alleys, downtown, with four star women's teams rolling. They are the Climax Girls' Club, Kenyon Recreation, Liberty National Girls and Capital Girls of Homestead.

Mrs. Alberta Garbett, of McKeesport, who won in the singles, doubles and five-women events of last year's tournament, will lead the Climax team. The P. A. A. teams will roll their five-men events tonight.

CHICAGO, April 4.—(INS.)—Willie Hoppe of New York today had one game in the "won" column of the national three-cushion billiard tournament being played here. In his initial appearance Hoppe last night defeated Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago by the score of 50 to 34. The game required 74 innings.

In the semi-final evening match, Art Thurnblad of Chicago triumphed over Gus Copulos of Detroit, 50 to 47, in 50 innings. The lead changed six times in this tilt.

Allen Hall and Johnny Layton, both of St. Louis, kept the Missouri metropolis 100 per cent in the running by winning both afternoon matches. Hall trimmed Cowboy Weston of Pittsburgh, 50 to 32, in 48 innings, and Layton routed Earl Lookabaugh of Chicago, 50 to 40, in 48 innings.

Thurnblad's nine was yesterday's highest run. Kieckhefer's 12 of the day before still stands as the tourney's high to date.

Today's matches are as follows: Kenney vs. Copulos, Kieckhefer vs. Thurnblad, Layton vs. Weston, Reiselt vs. Lookabaugh.

Although the entry list was rather abbreviated, the scoring in the Nuss Brothers' first annual duckpin tournament, rolled at Homestead last week, was exceptionally high, the official prize list, announced today, reveals.

The 2,529 turned in by Murphy's five in the team competition, the 620 scored by Fabio in winning the singles and Obley and Randic's mark of 1,162 in the doubles compare favorably with the best tourney scores turned in in local tourney history. The official prize list follows:

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 4.—Albert Black, former Amherst College athlete and basketball star, is in the Waynesburg Hospital with both legs paralyzed as the result of a fall suffered while engaged in a scuffling bout with friends at a local fraternity house.

Partner Has Gene's O. K.

By ED FRAYNE,
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Humbert J. Fugazy, the junior member of the firm of Mullen & Fugazy, dealers in pugilistic delicacies at reasonable prices has admitted that he formed his alliance with the Chicago promoter because he is convinced that Gene Tunney will fight under their auspices in September.

The signor furthermore admitted that he is the man who has blocked the Jack Sharkey-Jack Delaney match at Madison Square Garden, and that he will wind up with Sharkey, Delaney, Paulino Uzcudun and Johnny Risko entered in his tournament.

Fugazy revealed the inside story of how he joined forces with Mullen as follows:

"Jim positively assured me that Tunney will fight for us this year. He produced proof of his assertions in a form that was convincing enough for me. I can't go into details at this time, but I saw quite a number of telegrams that have passed between Jim and Gene. I could see from those that they are on very friendly terms.

"Our championship fight will be held at Soldiers Field in Chicago, or in this city. If it is held at Soldiers Field, I will be in on it; and if it is held here Jim will be in on it. We have plenty of time to pick a site.

"Right now, all we have to worry about is procuring a good contender. I think I have shown quite a few fighters that we have a real basis for our claims. At any rate, the Garden is beginning to have a lot of trouble signing heavyweights, and I think the public can figure out the reason for itself."

Fugazy's statement explains a number of puzzling situations that have cropped up during the past few days. There is no doubt that he has upset the Delaney-Sharkey match at the Garden. Jess McMahon said that he will give the Delaney people until midnight tonight to accept terms. Then he is going after Paulino Uzcudun, Phil Scott or Jack Dorval as a substitute.

However, Fugazy has not made the Sharkey interests dissatisfied. He was in Boston on Monday, and he had a heart-to-heart talk with Johnny Buckley. Now Buckley is ready to desert the Rickard circus.

Rickard is through with the good fighters for this year, and the fighters know it. He has awarded the major prize to Tom Heeney. Now, the fighters are giving Tex some of his own medicine.

BEAVERS TOP INDIANS

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 4.—(AP.)—The Quebec Beavers increased to two goals their lead over the Springfield Indians by a 2 to 1 victory here last night. A capacity crowd watched the second game of the four-game series, which will decide the championship of the Canadian-American Hockey League.

Charley Laroche, unassisted, scored the winning goal in the third period.

DAYTON VICTOR IN SCHOOL TOURNEY

CHICAGO, April 4.—(AP.)—Stivers High of Dayton, O., started the second day of play in the University of Chicago's national interscholastic basketball tournament by eliminating St. Paul, Neb., 35 to 20. It was a first-round game and three others were on the morning program before the second round was reached this afternoon.

The Ohioans presented a flashy offense under leadership of Colburn, diminutive forward. He caged eight field goals and four free throws to take the lead for individual scoring of the meet.

The Far West qualified in another entry for the second round when Dixie High of St. George, Utah, defeated Purdy (Tenn.) High, 36 to 20. The Utah boys were complete masters at all times, having a lead of 19 to 8 at the half.

Other scores: Mize, Miss., 29; South Portland, Me., 19.

ALLAND MECCA FOR WOMEN

The early membership list of the Alland Field Club, located at Murrysville, 13 miles east of Pittsburgh on the William Penn highway, indicates that the new club is to establish a record in the matter of women members.

The membership limit at Alland has been set at 2,000, and of this number approximately 1,000 will be members of the fair sex, according to L. W. McIntire, of 706 Penn avenue, president of the board of trustees. Alland's surprising popularity with the ladies is attributed by McIntire to the fact that women will enjoy every privilege and every facility available to men, and that the extensive sports and recreation program is so varied that its appeal is almost universal.

Although the Alland Field Club is laid out on a big scale (three 18-hole golf courses are to be constructed on its 700 acres and the biggest indoor swimming pool in the country is to be a feature of the three and one-half acres clubhouse) it is not essentially a "rich man's" club. Nurses, school teachers and women in other walks of life have found memberships well within their means, and they have been quick to heed opportunity's knock. Its library, music, club, and card rooms, its theater, nursery and extensive living quarters vie with its almost limitless athletic facilities in popularizing Alland with the "weaker" sex.

GOLDENSON VANITIES HONORED AT BANQUET

Members of the Goldenson Vanities basketball team were presented with silver basketball charms by their sponsor, Meyer Goldenson, at a banquet given the team last night in the Kilkeary Hotel by Dr. L. G. Beinhauer. Among the speakers were Mr. and Mrs. Goldenson, Dr. Heinhahes, Eddie Gail, manager of the team, Julius Levin and members of the basketball team. After the banquet the members of the team were guests at a theater party.

SMITH PLANS 'COMEBACK'

Sherry Smith, veteran pitcher recently released by the Cleveland Indians, plans to come back next season with some other major league entry. Sherry complains that he was called upon to work when he was not in shape last season, but is now ready to take his turn. Being a pretty pert hitter of sorts in addition to his hurling ability, Sherry will probably catch on before the season gets under way.

series, being badly trounced by the lowly Brooklyns and even minor league teams in both springs, yet there still are one or two fans willing to assert that the Yanks are a pretty fair ball team in spite of it.

WHEN the Brooklyn baseball club opens the National League season at home against the Phillies one week from this afternoon, the huge crowd in attendance will include a special party of which two prominent men of the Pittsburgh district will be members.

Wilbert Robinson.

Several weeks ago Thomas W. White of New York, one-time city engineer of McKeesport and now attached to the Sinclair interests in the East, visited McKeesport with a number of friends and were so royally entertained by the Knights of Columbus there and other citizens of the Tube City, that they have planned an opening-day baseball entertainment for their McKeesport friends to show their appreciation and at the same time pay tribute to Manager Wilbert Robinson and his Dodgers.

THE guests of honor during the afternoon and evening will be the Rev. Thomas O'R. Rea, pastor of St. Pius' Roman Catholic Church of McKeesport; Mayor George H. Lysle of that city, and Manager Robinson of the Brooklyn club.

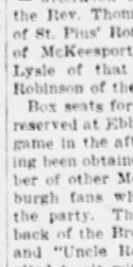
Box seats for the party have been reserved at Ebbets Field for the ball game in the afternoon, enough having been obtained to care for a number of other McKeesport and Pittsburgh fans who are likely to join the party. The seats are directly back of the Brooklyn club's dugout, and "Uncle Robbie" has been invited to sit with the party and direct his team from there. Before the game a magnificent floral piece will be presented to the Dodger pilot by Mr. White and his friends. After the game an informal dinner will be served, and the occasion on the whole promises to be a very enjoyable one.

IF Willie Hoppe wins the present national championship three-cushion billiard tournament in Chicago, he will win the world's championship for which the leading four in the Chicago competition are to compete next fall.

At least that is the opinion of the majority of cue followers.

Since he won the annual tournament of the American Three-Cushion League, Hoppe has defeated both Allen Hall and Gus Copulos in the 600-point matches, and the belief is strong among billiard fans that if he follows up these victories with a triumph the Windy City tournament that opened Monday night he will be pretty certain to win again next fall and supplant Otto Reiselt as champion of the world.

THERE is a considerable distance between match play and tournament play, as is well known, but Hoppe has shown his worth at both, and that's why he was made favorite when the present Chicago tourney was started.



Otto Reiselt.

True, Willie did not show to such advantage against Copulos as he did against Hall in the recent matches, as he beat Hall 600 to 438, whereas his score against Copulos was only 600 to 535, but this is explained by reports that safety play did not enter into the Hall match to such an extent as in the contest with Copulos.

Copulos admits that Hoppe is the hardest opponent he ever faced in three-cushion billiards.

"IT is customary," said Copulos, "for any player to let down just a little after making a high run or getting a commanding lead. But if this is done against Hoppe he will crush you. He has more endurance than any player I ever saw. A long test against him takes much out of any opponent. He plays a great game."

The opinion of Copulos is borne out by other stars who have met him. Harry Wakefield, a veteran of many strenuous campaigns, said that Hoppe was a marvel at the game and that with a little more competition against the stars that he would soon learn all that the system players have and with the added advantage of his own knowledge of billiards, that he will outclass the field.

THEY are telling a story as to why Bobby Wallace, Cleveland boxer who met Cuddy DeMarco here last October, has dropped his old manager, Scotty De Lauer. It seems that De Lauer was offered a match last winter with Tex Rickard for Madison Square Garden, New York, the fighter and his manager talked over the financial possibilities of the proposition.

Billy Wallace.

The result was De Lauer went East with these instructions: "Ask for $12,500, but don't take less than $10,000." The story is told that when De Lauer called on Tex Rickard the conversation in relation to money took this form:

Rickard: "Well, what do you want for the match?"

De Lauer (remembering every line of his cue): "I want $12,500, and I won't take a cent less than $10,000."

This was a new kind of business man, and Mr. Rickard in his usual altruistic way promptly obliged him. He gave De Lauer $10,000.

rumors that the Monongahela outfit was not going.

The club will start off on its eighth consecutive season when the season opens and practice has been called for Sunday afternoon. Practically all of last season's players, including Bailey, Wunderlich, Cassidy and Connely, will be back again, and Stinner plans to open the season abroad April 22. For games write F. Stinner, 1106 Barbara street, Duquesne, or call Duquesne 6677.

The Railway Mail outfit will be back again as a member this season of the Gimbel Major League. The club recently held a meeting at which C. Metcalf was elected president; O. Ackland, secretary; Charlie Edwards, manager, and Harry Lennox, business manager.

The club will practice this week and outside of the league schedule a large number of games will be played. For games write Harry Lennox, Railway Mail Service, 11 Ferry street, or call Walnut 3395-R in the evenings.

Quite a number of the clubs now affiliated with leagues are sitting on uneasy street until the playground committee gets in the work for the scheduling of home nights of the city grounds. This is becoming alarming and managers of the smaller clubs do not feel justified in going ahead with the makeup of a team until they can be assured that one night a week can be had in the nearby grounds.

The West Liberty Club is back for another baseball season with a stronger team than last year, and would like to book games with such teams as Brookline Cubs, Dormont Traynors, Mt. Washington Regals or any others in this class. Call Lehigh 0485 between 3 and 5 o'clock and ask for Bud.

Big Bill Names Team

MEXICO CITY, April 4.—(INS.)—William T. Tilden II, captain of the American Davis Cup team, has announced his selections for the tennis tournament opening Friday. Tilden himself will play in both the singles and the doubles.

John Hennessey, of Indianapolis, Ind., will play in the singles and Arnold T. Jones, of Providence, R. I., will be paired with Tilden in the doubles.

After four days in Mexico City the United States team is in fine shape. Tilden is playing in remarkable form despite the difference in atmosphere conditions.

Wilbert A. Coen, a 16-year-old Kansas City high school student, has been playing a sensational game in the practice matches.

P. & O. TITULAR FRAY TONIGHT

The deciding game for the championship of the P. & O. League, featuring the J. J. Mieles, first half winners, and the Siano quintet, victors in the second half race, will be staged tonight at Columbus Temple, and probably before a record crowd.

The Mieles walked off with the first struggle of the titular series, but in the second the Sianos rose to the occasion and soundly trounced the Miele passers. The Mieles are seeking their second consecutive title, but will have to show a complete reversal of form from that shown in the second encounter if they are to sink the Siano stars tonight.

Both fives will present their strongest lineups in tonight's contest.

The crack Penn five will clash with the old Iroquois quintet in a specially arranged contest on the Sharpsburg High floor tonight. In a preliminary contest, the Sharpsburg Junior High team will meet the Sharpsburg High freshman team.

NOTES of the BOXERS

NEW YORK, April 4.—(INS.)—Mike McTigue, former light-heavyweight champion, has been signed to box Armand Emanuel, crack Pacific Coast light-heavyweight and protege of Jack Dempsey, in San Francisco April 23.

NEW YORK, April 4.—(INS.)—Maxie Rosenbloom, New York middleweight, will try his luck in the English prize ring this summer. He has been matched with Tommy Milligan, former English middleweight champion, for a bout in London, June 4.

CHICAGO, April 4.—Jack Kearns, manager of Mickey Walker, world middleweight champion, will confer here today with Promoter Jim Mullen on the proposed title match between Walker and Ace Hudkins of Omaha, at Soldiers' Field, July 19.

GETS DIXIE CROWN

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 4.—(AP.)—Billy Algers, of Phoenix, Ariz., was given the mythical title of Dixie middleweight champion and awarded a belt by the local post of the American Legion when he defeated Alex Simms of Canton, Ohio, in a 10-round bout here last night.

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 4.—Edward Smith of Rogersville, 19-year-old pitcher of the Rogersville Independents, who starred in the Greene County League last summer, left today for Terre Haute, Ind., where he will receive a tryout with the Terre Haute team of the Three I League.

PIRATES

McCarthy's club went into the spectacular series in better condition than the Pirates, Bush is convinced that certain members of the club were not bearing down as they should have done. The Pirates, like the Cubs, were anxious to win as many times as possible.

There is no bearing on the championship race to come out of the series so far as the figures go, but there was a certain psychology connected with the fights that was considered significant, in a sense.

GAMES REAL FIGHTS

The Cuyler-Adams trade gave the scraps a real incentive right from the start. Nothing developed without the pale of the law in the way of aggressiveness, but some seem to think that the danger point was approached on one or two occasions. In all events, the series produced real baseball. The Bushwhackers still have more than a week in which to recover and build their fences for the important battles that will soon be with us.

The Pirates will open the season one week from today in St. Louis. From the present until that date, Bush is sure to keep a watchful eye on his athletes. Donie probably will be exacting a heavy toll from his players with a view of seeing them reach a finer point of condition.

Better Dividends Common; Many New Comers in Lists.

—By B. C. FORBES—

IMPROVED dividends announced by American corporations during the first quarter just ended totaled 50. This shows an increase of 4 over a year ago. Unfavorable dividend announcements, 44, are the same as last year.

THE feature of the March dividend news was the arrival of an extraordinarily large number of new payers. No fewer than 37 industrial and 3 public utility companies declared initial disbursements.

Extra payments were more popular than straight increases in rates. Extras were announced by 29 industrial, 3 public utility and 2 railway companies, while the increases were 16, 2 and 2. This little table gives a summary of the form taken by last month's cheerful dividend declarations:

	Ind.	P.U.	R.R.
Initial	37	3	0
Extra	29	3	3
Increased	16	2	2
Stock	6	0	0
Totals	96	8	5

THE gain during March was distinctly less than in February and in January. As a matter of fact, the March total, 96, was slightly below the corresponding figure of two years ago.

The following table gives the monthly record since the beginning of 1924:

	1928	1927	1926	1925	1924
January	111	83	87	69	78
February	98	81	72	64	49
March	96	83	102	81	62
First quarter	305	247	261	214	174
April		66	86	54	45
May		58	74	42	29
June		107	98	67	47
July		81	74	36	21
August		82	77	39	23
September		104	83	62	38
October		82	69	54	37
November		126	102	96	62
December		104	147	104	64
Totals		1139	1260	811	621

Investment trusts now figure prominently among the newcomers to these dividend lists. They are wholly responsible for the modest increase shown last month. Investment trust dividends represent mainly dividends declared and paid by other companies, so that, in a sense, they amount to duplications. In other words, a corporation which formerly disbursed these dividends direct to individual stockholders now may pay out quite a sum to investment trust holders of its securities. After receiving this money, the investment trust announces the paying out of this money in the shape of a dividend of its own. But the total disbursed to security holders is not materially affected thereby.

This new situation must be taken into the reckoning in analyzing dividend payments and in making comparisons with former years.

MARCH brought no sensational dividend surprises.

Nothing was done by such conspicuous stock market leaders as General Motors, Radio, Steel. The talk is that General Motors will, next month, declare a rather generous extra payment. There is gossip, too, to the effect that the shares will be split up, but nothing authoritative is yet known on that point. Wall street is also talking about a prospective split up of steel corporation stock. The writer would be greatly astonished if anything of this kind were done in the immediate future.

Radio, of course, pays no dividend, although the daring speculators have sent the price near $200 a share. That is altogether an exceptional quotation for a non-dividend paying issue.

The idea that broadcasting is extremely profitable is a delusion. So far, there has been no money in that branch of the business. As a matter of fact, interests connected with the enterprise have been dumbfounded at the stock's sensational market action. Of course, the corporation's longer outlook appears to be full of promise. It is not conceivable, however, that dividends in the near future will show any substantial return on the current price of the shares.

THE writer's guess is that the rosy dividend expectations voiced by Wall street bulls will fall short of fulfillment. The year promises to be reasonably satisfactory for the largest and strongest companies, but most other concerns hardly count upon record-breaking net profits available for distribution to stockholders.

Two Things You Should Think About?

Protecting your family by life insurance has two important phases—

1. Is the insurance adequate in amount?
2. How is the principal protected for the purpose for which it is provided?

You answer the first question. Let me explain the second.

Under the old way life insurance is paid in a lump sum. Is your wife a wise investor? Will she avoid pitfalls? Or is there a chance of her losing the money you leave?

Secure your family's rights by an insurance trust—which protects your money after you are gone. Let me explain these trusts today.

STOCKS SHOOT UP AFTER SLIDE

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP).—Disregarding a large quota of unfavorable trade news, the stock market moved upward in impressive fashion today after a temporary setback spell at the opening. Bullish operations were conducted with marked success in a number of public utilities, tails, motor accessories, oils and specialties, the gains in many instances running from 2 to 5 points.

Banks called about $25,000,000 into the money market, but the heavy week-end demand for funds, but the market paid little attention to this development. Equity shares were only slightly affected by the break of 5 cents in crude rubber, following the announcement of the removal of British export restrictions next November.

Violent fluctuations again took place in the high priced specialties. Wright Aeronautical rallied from 12" to 141 and backed up to 122. Radio fell from 102½ to 183½ and then rebounded to 187. Brooklyn Edison soared nearly 10 points and American Republics, Montana Power, Atlas Powder, Chrysler Products and Lackawanna Steel advanced 6 to 8 points, most of them to new peak prices. U. S. Steel and General Motors were quiet but firm.

Persistent buying of the Eastern railroad shares accompanied reports that the Eastern consolidation program had been definitely agreed upon by the leading executives who have been meeting here at intervals for the last few months. Chesapeake and Ohio ran up nearly 4 points, "Nickel Plate" advanced 5 to a new top at 112 and Reading and Western Maryland second preferred attained new peak prices at 112¾ and 56¾, respectively. Pittsburgh and West Virginia soared 15 points to a new top at 156.

DIXIE GAS ISSUES ADVANCE ON LOCAL EXCHANGE

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Big Rules in Loans.

The expansion of $347,500,000 in New York Stock Exchange members' loans between February 29 and March 21 was a distinct shock, and there was considerable nervousness this morning before the opening. The market took the news without a ripple, however, and the expected flood of selling did not materialize in the early trading. Exchange members' loans now total $4,640,141,000, less than $400,000,000 under the $5,000,000,000 predicted by W. C. Durant in his statement several months ago, to which he intrusted the sensational market rise in progress. These loans represent borrowings of the members on stock exchange collateral contracted for and carried in New York. They are not to be confused with the loan figures cited each week by the Federal Reserve Board as New York reporting the basis to all bankers, whether members of the exchange or not. Based on the weekly Federal Reserve loan reports, the expectation was for an increase of possibly $150,000,000 for the month, and the actual figures showing double that amount of increase was more than a surprise to the nearest sweetheart. The total loans of $4,640,141,000 represents a new high record. The previous record high was $4,452,907,321, made December 31, 1927. Of the total, demand loans comprised $3,580,425,175, and time loans $1,059,716,000, against $3,264,078,000 and $1,628,260,260, respectively, on February 29, 1928. The low for brokers' loans for 1927 was $3,135,786,038, made January 31, and the high $4,452,907,321, made December 31. The high for 1926 was $3,535,580,321, made February 27, and the low $2,767,409,511 on May 28.

Air Stocks Soar Again.

Wright Aeronautical shot up to another new high shortly after the market opened with shorts scrambling wildly to cover their commitments and long traders stung by the lure of speculative enthusiasm, throwing in market orders to buy the stock at the time of writing in 8,000 lots as took place in Radio and General Motors last month. Accompanying the feverish dealings in Wright was a rumor that Henry Ford had made an agreement with Wright under which the latter would furnish his company with all-metal planes to be used in trans-continental service. Curtis Aeroplane went along on the Wright move, but not how it will benefit from the Ford angle was not explained. The truth of the matter probably is that both stocks are technically corrected a situation easily arising because of the fact that outstanding capital of both companies is comparatively small. Wright has called a preferred stock at $141.50 a share, it was announced today. The balance sheet at the end of 1926 showed about 22,250,000 outstanding. The $144.50 represents the call price of 110 and accrued dividends. The operation will be carried out through sale of additional common.

The annual meeting of the Wright company, scheduled for today, has been postponed owing to lack of quorum.

The offer is made under an annual stock subscription plan, annually so effective in January, but last year, because of the 10 per cent stock dividend it was delayed until June and again was postponed until April 1 to permit employes who previously had subscribed an opportunity to complete payments. About 61,235 employes subscribed to 332,427 shares at $122 each last year.

England Removes Rubber Ban.

London reports stated that Premier Baldwin announced in the House of Commons that the committee appointed to survey the rubber situation had recommended that restrictions on the export of the commodity from British controlled producing sources be removed on November 1. The move is the end of another effort to stock artificial means in the maintenance of a monopoly or price schedule on a commodity, in ordinance of the immutable law of supply and demand. Britain, controlling the main sources of supply, has the screws on the big American consumers, the automobile tire industry, and fostered the entrance of America into the growing control of the business. United States rubber interests and other big consumers are now engaged in producing their own crude while the Dutch growers, profiting by the restrictions of the British, have expanded their production steadily to meet the growing demands of the American market. In a measure, the Cuban restriction on sugar is a parallel and there are many who predict that Cuba's interference with the natural processes of the sugar industry will go far here in encouraging the same action England has had to acknowledge in rubber. The news from London caused a sharp drop in rubber futures on the New York Rubber Exchange today.

The trading today made a new high record when 3,429 lots or 3,697 long tons changed hands in the first hour.

Chrysler Sees New Order.

Walter P. Chrysler, genius of the automobile industry, says that business is normal in industry and predicts that it will disclose itself in a manner somewhat similar to the amazing changes noted in the securities markets. Mr. Chrysler says: "We are facing a condition, in fact, similar to the change which is apparent in financial conditions through the continued rise in security prices during the past few years. Past records are of little value in determining the future. Some things have been left far behind by the new order of things. In my opinion, the reason for the changed conditions is the tremendous gain in the purchasing power of the public. There are thousands of people who have no money today, who, only a few years ago, never expected to have a dollar. They are spending and investing a surplus where formerly they had barely enough to live on. So far as the automobile industry is concerned, this condition seems to be fundamental in its prosperity and to a good indication that prosperous conditions will continue. No one can place a limit on the number of motor cars which this country and the world will eventually consume annually."

Pittsburgh and West Virginia Sizzles.

Pittsburgh and West Virginia popped into new high ground on a wide run up, presumably in anticipation of a resumption of competitive buying in the rails when the Loree traffic trunk line matter comes to another crash shortly. The Pittsburgh and West Virginia occupies a strategic position on the railroad map, and it is likely will figure in the fireworks, along with Wabash, provided the reported efforts to pacify Loree with the chairmanship of the Nickel Plate are unavailing. The Pennsylvania directors' meeting is expected to be held tomorrow. Decision will be made, it is claimed, as to making offer for Loree's holdings of Wabash and Lehigh Valley. However, there is no certainty as yet that Loree can be persuaded to sell out and abandon his desire to occupy a leading position in the eastern railroad world after mergers are effected.

Slick, president, declared prospects for 1928 are brighter than at this time last year. The company is expanding production by the addition of a line of containers. First quarter estimated earnings give a higher ratio of profit than the same period of 1927. The company will make an effort this year to dispose of Glassport Land Company, a subsidiary.

All stock of both subsidiaries will be held by the parent company, the stock of which will be split two for one.

Timken Prospects.

Timken Roller Bearing company is doing its largest business, said W. R. Timken, vice president, returning from abroad. Earnings for the first half of 1928 should greatly exceed those for the same period last year, he said. As to when the new capacity of an increased dividend this year he said the company no doubt would be in a position to consider such action, but he could not say at this time whether it would be done.

Wickwire Loss Larger.

Wickwire-Spencer Steel Company reports for year 1927 net loss was 1,025,966 after interest and depreciation, etc., against net loss of $855,307 in 1926.

Barnet Earnings Adjustment.

The income account of Barnet Leather Company for 1927 has been revised to show a loss of $222,468 after taxes and charges, instead of profit of $152,110 previously reported. J. M. Barnet, president, has informed stockholders. It was discovered that a newly installed cost system had been so operated as to fail to establish the correct cost of production, necessitating an inventory adjustment, it is said, in the interest of accuracy and to establish figures on a basis of cost or fair market value, he said.

Steel Pipe Discount Off.

Youngstown Sheet and Tube has withdrawn the 5 per cent promotional discount on wrought steel pipe, in effect since the fourth quarter last year, to have James B. Laughlin Steel Corporation and National Tube Company do likewise. Cutting of that 5 per cent discount is equal to an advance of about 12 a ton.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, April 4.—(AP.)—The bond market was fairly active, but inclined to heaviness today, with traders showing an inclination to limit commitments until after the extended week-end recess.

Second grade rails were in moderate demand, particularly first 4s of the old St. Paul, New Haven 4½s and Seaboard Gold 4s. The new St. Paul issues showed further recessions on profit-taking. New York Traction liens, which had been rising steadily for a week or so, became reactionary.

In the public utility division only nominal transactions were recorded.

Both Anaconda and Andes Copper 7s sold off, McCrory Store 5½s again sold around the year's high. Petroleum issues were soft.

The foreign list was steady, with an easy undertone. French, Polish and Latin-American issues were off fractionally, but Italian Public Utility 7s sold around the year's high.

United States Government bonds were firm.

NEW YORK, April 4.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, April 4—(AP.)—Prices became buoyant on the curb market today after the first hour had permitted brokers to execute selling orders apparently based on the belief that increased brokers loans would unsettle the market. Trading was heavy and a score of issues moved to new high ground led by airplane shares, which reflected the strength of the "big board," and sugar stocks, which continued the upward trend begun yesterday on announcement of advancing prices.

Aero Supply A and B both reached new high levels, although the B issue receded later. Curtiss Aero exports moved to a new high at 33⅞. Central Aguirre Sugar advanced nearly to its peak, then sold off slightly, while Fajardo and National Refining made substantial gains to new highs. Celotex advanced 3 points to a new high at 65, and heavy buying lifted Columbia Graphophone Ltd. to a new peak at 24⅛. Other strong spots included General Fireproofing, General Ice Cream, Hartford Times preferred, Marion Steam Shovel, Deere & Co., Pennsylvania Railroad rights, Safeway Stores and Procter & Gamble.

Several issues which led yesterday's advance were under pressure today. Royal Baking Powder slumped 3 points, Auburn Auto lost about 2, Libby-Owens sagged nearly 1 points under profit-taking.

NEW YORK, April 4—(AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving stocks and bonds traded in (000 omitted in sales column as bond list):

A CORRECTION

MR. GEO. SHUMWAY wishes to state he did not publicly say that the fire department was drunk the night that the house on Wilson street burned down after the fire department got any water connections. He said in effect—that as the men at the fire house seemed addicted to pitching horseshoes and playing pinochle, his idea was that the apparatus was not in shape because they had been having too much pinochle, and that some of the audience, not being familiar with the various brands of illicit, supposed that pinochle was some kind of bootleg—Ho Hum!

BUGS BAER Says

THERE have been many editorial complaints that April the Foolish is no longer a national holiday.

In the good old days of tangled whiskers and vest buttons the first of April was the signal for the berry-headed clowns to put sneeze powder into the contribution plate, kick empty pocketbooks around and otherwise demonstrate man's superiority over monkey.

ARTHUR BUGS BAER.

The reason why we don't celebrate April first in this manner is because we have exhausted ourselves throughout the rest of the year.

We kick an empty pocketbook around every day in the year. Even the baby can drop it for a field goal.

We don't put pepper in the candy, but what's that compared to brushing your teeth with shaving cream on a dull morning in October?

Is stealing the butcher's gate any worse than knocking the fenders off the druggist's car? And the cow in the belfry is no more out of place than the long-winded gossiper in the telephone booth.

Every day is April first on the metropolitan calendar of idiocy and its educational citations. If we get foolish with the first balmy day of spring what do you think we are when the hot July sun bakes a pie crust on our skulls?

When the cuckoo pops out of the Swiss clock he is talking to us. If we ever go entirely nuts it will be because of a lifelong ambition to play an accordion on the trolley during the rush hour.

Don't Get Mad About It

This Is Another of Those Unfriendly Cartoons

TEARING DOWN THE UNITED STATES.

Inasmuch as we have in this country a good many sloppy sentimentalists, saying that we don't need fast cruisers, don't need fighting airplanes, don't need submarines, it is well for the people to know how the other countries really feel toward the United States.

Anybody who imagines that Uncle Sam, who sent millions of his men and ten thousand millions of his money to help other countries in war, gets gratitude in return, is MISTAKEN.

This particular cartoon is from a Mexican newspaper, El Liberador, published in Mexico City.

Under his cartoon the Mexican editor writes: "The combined efforts of the Latin-American nations can tear down the monument of commercial imperialism erected by the United States."

As a matter of fact it would be rather a bad thing for Mexico if the combined efforts of the Latin-American nations should "tear down the monument of commercial imperialism erected by the United States."

Our Mexican friends can give to American prosperity and industrial genius what name they please. But as a matter of fact it is the money produced by Americans that has built up Mexico.

It is American money that our Mexican friends borrow to build their railroads.

And heaven knows this country, which could quite simply march down and take all the territory between the Rio Grande and the Panama Canal, is patient and long suffering.

While the Mexicans talk about tearing down American prosperity, American industrial and engineering genius is building up Mexico. It is the United States that built the Panama Canal, admitting Mexican ships to that canal on the same terms ... can ships, and enabling the Mexican goods to travel ... east to their west coast promptly and cheaply.

All of this, of course, is talk. The little man sometimes foolishly envies the big man. The little nation sometimes foolishly envies the big nation.

As our friends of the South American republics grow more powerful and wealthier, they will concentrate their attention on building up their own possibilities, which are unlimited, instead of thinking about tearing down this country, which is the main spring of prosperity to a good many of them.

We Dress the World

American consuls throughout the world are appealing to their countrymen to supply the dress for the peoples where they are stationed. American movies are mainly responsible.

Hearken to what the last issues of Commerce Reports has to tell American manufacturers:

"There is a fair market in Greece for garters and similar articles.

"There is a very favorable market for men's neckties in South Africa."

"Nicaragua offers a fair market for cheap quality shirts and a small one for the better grade."

"The greatest demand for hats in Bolivia is for felt styles and the market is comparatively favorable."

"Collars are worn daily by a large per cent of the population of the cities of Venezuela. Semi-soft collars are more popular than the stiff variety."

"The demand for suspenders is declining in Venezuela since the preferred trouser model is that tailored for a belt."

"A quality market exist for American suspenders, garters, raincoats, hosiery, general haberdashery and fine hats in Czechoslovakia."

"Frequent rains and weather conditions generally in Scotland create a good demand for rainproof coats."

YO! HO!—FIVE DEFEATS IN A ROW

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

God and Astronomy

"Has any modern astronomer written a book on God as He really is, or might be? The Bible God is, of course, as untenable as the golden calf.—R. W. Hillmer."

I AM not aware that any astronomer has written a book on God, although perhaps the idea of a God presents itself to an astronomer's mind more impressively than to that of any other man of science. God is a conception on the grand scale, and the starry universe is representative of man's highest and greatest thoughts. Therefore, in all religions we find the idea of God wedded to the sky. When a man thinks of God he looks upward; and when he looks upward he thinks of God. Even an atheist will instinctively do that. This may be an inherited tendency, but even so, it shows that the association of God with the heavens always has existed. This was what Young had in mind when he wrote in his "Night Thoughts:"

"Devotion, daughter of astronomy!
The undevout astronomer is mad."

The Book of Job is a treasure house of references to the continuous association of God with the heavens. Living in a world shaken by earthquakes, burned by volcanic eruptions, swept by terrible storms and tempests, and yet filled with all the delights and comforts of sunshine, flowers, fruits, beautiful surroundings and pleasant companionships, man never thought of locating upon the earth the God supposed to govern all these things. Instead, man looked up toward the stars to find the Master of terror and love. What "conditioned reflex" could have brought that about? Whence originated those magnificent images reflected in the mind of the writer of that great religious poem? Hear him:

"Where wast thou when I laid the foundations of the earth?"

"Knowest thou the ordinances of heaven? Canst thou set the dominion thereof in the earth?"

It is in Job that we find the greatness of the Hebrew conception of God. There He is stripped of the pettiness and inconsistency attached to Him wherever He is represented as a national or racial deity. He is pictured as a power beyond the earth, under whose hand earthly things exist.

Now, I am not championing the "Bible God." I am only trying to show that, for historical reasons as well as others, the astronomer should be expected to give special attention to the conception of a universal power or supernal intelligence governing the universe, together with the earth as an almost infinitesimal part of the universe.

You may notice a growing tendency even among some astronomers toward the view that the earth is an exceptional planet—possibly the only one that bears intelligent life. To me this is inconceivable. It was first thought of by defenders of the old Bible faith as a reply to those who ridiculed the assumption that God would devote Himself to little man, and would even care in detail for the interests of particular races of men. But in its new shape it seems to be used as an argument against the divine government of the universe, or against the existence of any such thing as purpose in the cosmos, the totality of things.

If a modern astronomer should write a book about God, it certainly would be different in some respects from a book on the same subject written by an astronomer of two or three centuries ago. But I am confident that it would not be atheistic. The author would not describe God with such intimate touches as those that characterize the older theologians. He would probably not dissent from Newton's statement that "the Supreme God exists necessarily," but that "as the blind man has no idea of color, so we have no idea of the manner by which the all-wise God perceives and understands all things."

THOUGHTS OF THE GREAT—

Once Overs

By J. J. MUNDY

Balance Good and Bad

AT times when you think the world has not given you a square deal, you should carry the thought a little farther.

Doing this may make you realize how many times you have received more than that to which you were entitled.

Try balancing your ill-luck with the times when fortune has smiled.

You find that life has treated you pretty well after all, don't you?

Most of us do too much complaining.

We take the good things as a matter of course and cry out rebelliously when the wind blows and makes us its particular victim.

It is easy to permit envy to rob us of joy.

It is easy to be so busy looking ahead that we miss the joys of the moment and do not recognize the pleasures till they are gone beyond recall.

No matter what you could procure you might still be dissatisfied, if you are that unhappy sort.

Those you consider most fortunate may lack the one thing essential to happiness, and you do not appreciate that you have that very thing.

Quatrains

WHEN Autumn goes with all her pageantry
And Winter strips the quaking willow-tree,
Sigh not for violets, below the sod
Brown husks guard well their immortality!

If all the beautiy of this world were spent,
All radiance by the mist and moonlight lent,
All glories of the heavens and the sea,
Then man, departing, would go well-content,

Wild grief is but a somber bird that flies
With wide wings darkening the tranquil skies
One moment; then its shadow passes by
And on my path again the sunlight lies.

Talesthatare Told

Oh, Bishop!

AN IRISHMAN was quite a problem for the priest, who was continually lecturing him on the evils of drink and bad habits.

One day he met the priest in the street.

"Father," said Pat, "what is the cause of lumbago?"

The priest, thinking this an excellent opportunity to bring his charge to serious thinking, replied:

"Why, that is caused by keeping too late hours and drinking too often. Had you taken my advice and stuck to the strait and narrow path, you would not be in this dreadful condition."

"Oi, sure 'taint me what's got it," returned Pat. "I was only wondering what caused it. I saw in the paper where the Bishop was suffering from lumbago."—London Tit-Bits.

Hard on Fido

THE stout lady, who was beautifully upholstered in velvet and pearls, scarcely troubled to look up from her breakfast as the door opened to admit the little man who had been too timid to resist her advances during a leap year of long ago.

"Have you shaved?" she demanded, with her mouth full of bacon and egg.

"Yes, dear."

"Have you brushed your hair?"

"Yes, dear."

"And cleaned your teeth?"

"Yes, dear."

A podgy hand was waved generously towards a bundle of fluff that lay on the sofa.

"Very well. You may kiss Fido."

Unconscious Invitation

THEY stood in the cocktail-bar of a restaurant and gazed into the mirror hanging on the opposite wall.

"Good heavens!" gasped the first man. "Surely you're Donald Dougal?"

The other turned round.

"No," he declared. "That is not my name."

"Not Donald Dougal, who used to keep a newsagent's shop in the High street?"

"No!"

"Well, I'm astounded! You must have a double!"

"Ah!" The other became suddenly affable. "Thanks very much. I certainly will!"—London Answers.

The Verdict

A WELL-KNOWN actor-manager saw an advertisement in a paper inserted by an agent who wanted a man to play leads in a touring company.

The man, the advertisement stated, must look like the famous actor-manager, and be able to give an impersonation of him. For the fun of the thing, he called at the agent's address in answer to the advertisement.

When he reached the office, it was crowded and the advertiser was walking down the long line, considering each applicant with the utmost care. Presently he reached the "star."

"No use considering you," he said, "you're not the type.

Not Likely

AN IRISHMAN, who was also a sandwichman, was walking along the road eating his midday meal. It was obvious, however, that there was something peculiar about him—his boards were reversed, so that nothing but their backs was visible.

"Pat," shouted a passer-by, "do you know your boards are turned round the wrong way?"

"Indade, and I do," said the Irishman. "Do you think I'm such a fool as to work in my lunch-hour?"

When Action Counts

PHILADELPHIA'S industrial leaders have made the proper answer to unemployment. They have decided to begin at once a construction program involving $126,000,000.

This will not be money spent recklessly, but to carry out promptly expansions plainly needed.

It is intelligent as well as courageous spending. It gets done things which need to be done. It also helps to maintain the market's power to consume, which is the pillar of prosperity.

Every community in the country could wisely imitate Philadelphia's good example.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 4.—Bringing out a New York debutante costs from $10,000 to $100,000. Most of which goes to dressmakers, the florists and the hotels where the "coming out" parties are given. Some parents employ press agents to keep society editors informed.

The majority of debutantes make the social bow at the age of 18. They have finished at select boarding schools and usually spend a year abroad. Some are bright, vital and a little disturbing to masculine hearts and others are shy, awkward and lacking the well-known neuter pronoun.

If they have been presented at court prior to their debut, it takes on a little more significance. Vast sums, I am told, have been spent in engineering this gesture. It seems to mean more in social swank than anything else, beating genealogical distinction.

A debut is in final analysis a bid for a husband as well as showing friends and relatives of parents what a fine daughter they have turned out. Broadly speaking, it indicates the debutante is in the matrimonial market and may the best man win.

Personally I have never met a debutante, but being the polite boy I am, I once opened a limousine door for one. Absent mindedly she fumbled at her purse, and then seeing I was not in uniform, bowed her thanks in a sort of sweet terror.

The difficulty with debutantes, it is observed, is they want to fly away with a duke. This may be due to their expert "finishing," causing the home-grown products to seem clods in contrast to elegant hand kissers from over sea.

Several debutantes have made their bow amid all the fuss and fine feathers, and immediately turned from society to Bohemian sets. One married a rag-time king. Another the family chauffeur. Still another the manager of a chain store. And so on.

I have stopped watching a floor of dancers. There are certain men who employ a look-at-me manner and are such terrible dancers I find myself with murder in my heart for the rest of the evening. And murder isn't refined.

It is interesting to sit behind Peggy Joyce in the theater. The other evening she came in swathed in chin chilla, blooming with white orchids and spreading the scent of Oriental perfume. When she caressed the back of her hair, there was revealed a finger ring with a square sided diamond the size of the old-fashioned two-cent postage stamp. If it wasn't the Kohinoor, it was its little brother.

Audiences show no signs of reforming in the matter of arriving at the theater late. More than 50 came in a theater the other night in the middle of the final act, all a bit cock-eyed.

This is told by a photographer. A gentleman hired him and three of his fellows to stand at a theater entrance and take flashlights of the gentleman and his lady as they stepped from their auto. It seems the gentleman had a dozen guests waiting at the entrance for him and the gesture was, the photographer said, merely to impress them. That's one way.

In the past three weeks I have met four men who were failures at 50—broke, jobless, down and out and two were in miserable health. No one of them is now 60, but they are back on their feet physically and financially. Two are making more money than they ever made. I don't know how others feel, but this sort of news affects me joyously. I want to turn a few cartwheels in the street. The idea that men begin to slow up at 40 is going to the scrap heap. I am beginning to believe few men have good hard sense until they reach that age.

The Publicity Mania

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Like the desire for strong drink the craving for publicity seems to be in our blood.

It does not seem to make much difference what it is all about or for what you are famous, just so long as your name is mentioned on the front page of the newspaper.

Manufacturers of publishers' blurb to print on the outside cover of a book and press agents for operatic stars and famous actors say that it does not make much difference what people say about you; the damning thing is for them to say nothing at all. Just so long as you are mentioned, whether it be for having your jewels stolen, or getting mixed up in a divorce suit, or breaking your leg, or beating up your wife, or anything, so long as people will talk about it, you gain, they assert.

This desire is so strong in some people that they are willing to sacrifice their life, or their virtue or their reputation or anything they may have, just so long as they may be noticed.

This seems to be a reverse operation of the force that makes us have stage fright.

There the attention of the multitude makes us sick at the stomach, but in this case its attention gives us a desired thrill. Like alcohol, it makes some people sick and some hilarious.

The case of the notorious Hickman, the California murderer, is in point. If, after his apprehension, he had been plunged into obscurity and there given his punishment it would have been proper.

On the contrary his capture only seemed to bring him into the limelight. He was taken to Los Angeles, famous lawyers quarreled over him, and noted writers were employed to describe his most minute actions during the trial. People crowded into the courtroom to see him.

His trial was like the opening night at a movie show. All the celebrities were there. Great movie stars, famous writers, noted jurists and many others of great reputation could be found among the spectators.

Hickman himself seemed to revel in the notice given him. He had a speech read before the jury which was a most maudlin appeal to sentiment.

About the same time in the newspapers we read of the success of Grace Moore in New York, who had triumphed as a singer in the Metropolitan Opera. But the efforts of this prima donna were no more rewarded by publicity than the crimes of Hickman.

Of course we don't want secret trials. They open the way to too much abuse. But there ought to be a way by which one who has committed a great crime can be tried and receive his just reward without such extraordinary publicity.

Right Angles

By ALEXANDER CAIRNS

Go to Jail

HORACE GREELEY, stormy petrel of Journalism, was once locked up in a jail in Paris. Evidently he didn't flood the place with ethical brine because he sent out the message:

"Thank God, at last, for once, I am free from intrusion."

So many of God's nobility have proved their sainthood by languishing in bastiles that a deal of the shame of the jail as a place of temporary or permanent residence has been obliterated.

John Bunyan, penning the "Pilgrim's Progress" during six months imprisonment in the old jail at Bedford, remains for all time a bay-crowned hero of literature. And before that time he enjoyed another residence of 12 years in that same limbo when he wrote "Profitable Meditations" and two other monographs.

And the American bibliophile cannot forget the incarceration of Henry Thoreau, the genius of Walden, for his refusal to pay taxes to a government that allowed human slavery. And then that classic conversation when Emerson came to see him and asked him if he wasn't ashamed to be seen in there and Thoreau replied, "Ralph, aren't you ashamed to be seen out of here?"

Abdul Baha, who drew away from Islam one-fourth of the people of Persia, evolved into a prophet with an authoritative voice which ... and still rings round the world, the place of his apotheosis a transfiguration was a jail, in Persia where he dreamed dreams and saw visions of God and goodness for 24 years.

And what a romance is the life of Sir Thomas More! The author of "Utopia," the friend of Erasmus, the speaker of the House of Commons, the Chancellor of Great Britain. Then because he refused to sanction the marriage of Henry VIII to Anne Boleyn he was thrown into the Tower of London only to walk out to the execution block and the headsman's ax.

And so many a jail has been a Mount Sinai where G... immortalized a man a... an inspired writing for all mankind. It was said of Eugene V. Debs, imprisoned in Atlanta for his pacific utterances during the war, that he shed a Christ-like glory through the whole prison by his innate kindliness and humility, and his persistent refusal to accept any favor that was not granted to every other man in the prison.

And so this is my contribution to the sentiment that we should not be o'er hasty to ... another a man in billingsgate simply because he has dwelt behind the grey walls.

Christ stood as a criminal before Pilate.
